This section provides a summary of the transition from the New Zealand Teachers Council Te Pouherenga Kaiako o Aotearoa (the Teachers Council), an introduction to the Education Council of Aotearoa New Zealand (the Education Council) and its requirements, policies and processes relating to registration and practising certificates for teachers in New Zealand.
INTRODUCTION

This interim policy gives effect to the changes in the Education Act 1989 that passed into law as the Education Amendment Act on 12 February 2015.

The Education Council will conduct a full review of all policies and requirements relating to registration and the issue and renewal of practising certificates from 1 July 2015. A new policy outlining the standards and criteria for becoming a registered teacher, and being issued with and renewing different kinds of practising certificates will be in place within two years of the Education Council's commencement.

PREVIOUS REQUIREMENTS FOR REGISTRATION AND TRANSITION ARRANGEMENTS

1. This section outlines the prior requirements for gaining and maintaining registration in different categories with the New Zealand Teachers Council Te Pouherenga Kaiako o Aotearoa (the Teachers Council). It includes a summary of how teachers registered with the Council have transitioned to the interim registration framework adopted by the Education Council of Aotearoa New Zealand (the Education Council).

2. Teachers registered with the Teachers Council held one of three categories of registration: provisional, full, or subject to confirmation.

3. The category of registration that a teacher held signalled:
   a. whether the teacher was new to the New Zealand teaching profession, or if they were an experienced teacher; and
   b. how recently the teacher had been assessed as meeting all of the Registered Teacher Criteria.

4. A practising certificate was issued at the same time a teacher successfully applied or reapplied for registration in any category.

1 S127(1)(c) of the Education Act 1989 prior to the commencement of the Education Council stated that provisional registration expired after five years, but enabled the Teachers Council to grant one further year to a maximum period of six years of provisional registration.
Provisional registration

5. If a teacher held provisional registration, this signalled that:
   a. they had not yet had the opportunity to demonstrate that they could meet all of the Registered Teacher Criteria; and
   b. they were (usually) a newly qualified teacher; or
   c. they were new to the New Zealand teaching profession; and
   d. they were required to complete a broad-based programme of induction and mentoring, supported by a fully registered mentor teacher, in order to be able to be meaningfully assessed using the Registered Teacher Criteria and gain full registration.

Full registration

6. If a teacher held full registration, this signalled that:
   a. they were an experienced teacher; and
   b. they had recent teaching experience; and
   c. they had recently been meaningfully assessed using and had met all of the Registered Teacher Criteria.

7. To renew a practising certificate with full registration, a teacher was required to complete satisfactory recent teaching experience within the previous three to five years, and to have completed satisfactory professional development within the previous three years.

Registration subject to confirmation

8. If a teacher held registration subject to confirmation, this signalled that:
   a. they were an experienced teacher; and
   b. for valid reasons they had not recently been able to be meaningfully assessed using the Registered Teacher Criteria.

Practising certificates

9. Practising certificates were always issued for a period of three years, and did not carry any category. A practising certificate had to show that a teacher was registered and include the category of registration held.

10. Some experienced teachers wished to maintain their status as a registered teacher although they did not require a practising certificate, as they moved to employment in a non-teaching role. These teachers often maintained registration in the category subject to confirmation, which did not carry any requirement for satisfactory recent teaching experience. Maintaining registration in this way required a reapplication for registration subject to confirmation and a practising certificate every three years.

TRANSITION ARRANGEMENTS TO THE EDUCATION COUNCIL

11. Any teacher who successfully applies for registration with the Education Council will remain a registered teacher for life, unless their registration is cancelled.2

12. The categories of registration (provisional, full and subject to confirmation) transfer to the practising certificate. In the future there may be additional categories of practising certificate. The existing categories may also receive a different name to better reflect the situation of teachers who hold each type of practising certificate.

2 S357(1) of the Education Act 1989 explains when the Education Council must cancel registration.
13. The Education Act 1989 (as amended by the Education Amendment Act 2015) allows for practising certificates to be issued for a maximum period of three years. It may be possible in the future that some categories of practising certificate will be issued for a shorter period of time.

14. A practising certificate can be cancelled in certain situations.³

15. Teachers who were registered with the Teachers Council on the day the Education Council commenced automatically transferred as registered with the Education Council. There is no requirement for these teachers to reapply for registration in the future, unless their registration is cancelled.

16. Teachers who also held a practising certificate on the day the legislation passed were automatically granted a practising certificate with the same expiry date. The practising certificate carries the category of registration they held with the Council.

17. The Registered Teacher Criteria are now called the Practising Teacher Criteria, although the criteria and key indicators remain the same.

18. New standards and criteria for practising certificates are required to be established within two years of the Education Council’s commencement.⁵ This means that all practising certificates automatically granted by the Education Council expire on or before 1 July 2017. All teachers who hold a practising certificate with the Education Council are encouraged to use the online register to check when it expires. Further guidance is available on the Education Council website.

19. The following diagram illustrates how teachers who were registered and/or held a practising certificate with the Teachers Council were transitioned to the Education Council registration framework.

⁴ Note that those teachers who already held a practising certificate with the Council automatically received a practising certificate with the Education Council; however it will expire on 1 July 2017 or earlier in accordance with Schedule 20(6)(b) of the Education Act 1989, depending on the existing expiry date.

*NB: Registration in the category subject to confirmation (STC) expired at the same time as the practising certificate. Any teacher whose STC registration and practising certificate had expired falls into the 'unregistered' category.

Limited Authorities to Teach

20. Anyone who held a Limited Authority to Teach (LAT) with the Teachers Council was automatically granted a LAT by the Education Council with the same terms and expiry date.

21. If a LAT holder wishes to seek an amendment to the terms stated in their LAT, they will be required to reapply for a new one. The interim requirements for granting a LAT are outlined in the Limited Authority to Teach Policy.

The Education Council Online Register

22. The online register displays all teachers who are registered with the Education Council. It also indicates whether the teacher holds a current practising certificate, or their practising certificate has expired.

23. The register displays live information about the current status of all teachers who are registered, and those who also hold a practising certificate.
24. The register includes important information about what the teacher’s status means:

a. If a teacher is registered this means, at the time registration was approved, the Education Council considered the teacher was:
   i. of good character; \(^6\) and
   ii. fit to be a teacher; and
   iii. satisfactorily trained to teach.

b. If a teacher holds a current practising certificate, the Education Council has been assured within the last three years that the teacher continues to be:
   i. of good character; \(^7\) and
   ii. fit to be a teacher; and has either iii. met the requirements for the issue of a practising certificate in the relevant category; or
   iv. met the requirements for the renewal of their practising certificate in the relevant category. \(^8\)

c. If a teacher holds an expired practising certificate, the Education Council has not recently been assured that the teacher meets the requirements outlined in b. above. \(^9\)

6 Including having a Police vet satisfactory to the Education Council. Anyone who has been convicted of a specified offence listed in Schedule 2 of the Vulnerable Children Act 2014 is not permitted to be registered, unless they have been granted an exemption. The process for exemptions is outlined in section 36 of the Vulnerable Children Act 2014.

7 Including having a Police vet satisfactory to the Education Council.

8 Refer to Section Two Part B: Categories of Practising Certificate for further information and explanation.

9 Practising certificates are usually issued for three years. This means that the Education Council sighted evidence that the teacher met the requirements outlined in 24. b. relevant to their category of practising certificate three years before the expiry date displayed on the online register.
PART A: PURPOSES OF THE REGISTRATION POLICY

Registration signals that a teacher has met the initial requirements for entry to the teaching profession. In order to become registered, a teacher must demonstrate that they are of good character and fit to be a teacher, are satisfactorily trained to teach and have a satisfactory Police vet.

Registration is granted only once, and does not expire. To be lawfully employed in schools, kura, kindergartens and in most positions in early childhood education settings, teachers are required to be both registered and to hold a practising certificate.

In order to be issued with and renew a practising certificate, a teacher must demonstrate on an ongoing basis that they are of good character and fit to be a teacher and have a satisfactory Police vet. When a teacher holds a current practising certificate, employers, colleagues, learners and the wider community can be assured that a teacher has been recently assessed as being safe and competent.

The category of practising certificate indicates how recently the teacher has met all of the Practising Teacher Criteria, or whether the teacher is yet to meet them for the first time.

A practising teacher is expected to be actively engaged in the process of being issued with and renewing a practising certificate and ensuring that their employment is lawful by holding a current practising certificate when employed in a teaching position.

This document explains the rules, guidelines, policies and procedures that the Education Council of Aotearoa New Zealand (the Education Council) will use to interpret and apply the legislation in relation to registering and issuing practising certificates to teachers in New Zealand.

This policy applies to all registered teachers, practising teachers and those authorised to be employed in a teaching position in New Zealand. It explains how people can join, remain within and leave the New Zealand teaching profession.

The guidelines, policies and procedures set out in this document are underpinned by:

a. legislation (the Education Act 1989 and subsequent amendments)
b. ongoing consultation with the profession including key stakeholders
c. engaging with the wider community (including learners, parents and employers) to support widespread confidence in the quality of the teaching profession.

The Education Council works closely with other government agencies, in particular the New Zealand Qualifications Authority (NZQA), NZ Police, the New Zealand School Trustees Association (NZSTA), the Education Review Office (ERO) and the Ministry of Education (MoE) as well as approved providers of initial teacher education programmes, to help ensure a consistent and co-ordinated approach to the policies and requirements across the education sector.
PART B: DEFINITIONS USED IN THE REGISTRATION POLICY

The following terms are applied consistently throughout this document and to all registration and practising certificate policies and guidelines.

ACCREDITATION
This term refers to the official recognition of a course by accrediting bodies in a state or territory. It indicates that academic quality and standards have been checked and verified.

ĀKONGA
Ākonga are learners who may be in a range of settings, from early childhood to secondary and beyond. Throughout the Education Council policies and guidelines 'learners' and 'students' can be read interchangeably with ākonga.

EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTION
An educational institution is an organisation outside of the general education system that is recognised by the Education Council as a setting where a teacher may complete 'satisfactory recent teaching experience' to renew their practising certificate.

An educational institution must be an accredited, registered institution or licensed learning service and employ teachers in roles that meet the Education Council’s definition of a teaching position.

Those educational institutions that wish to have approval from the Education Council as a setting where teachers can renew a full practising certificate must apply for approval from the Education Council and provide evidence of having an appraisal system that requires teachers to meet, with evidence, all of the Practising Teacher Criteria, and be meaningfully appraised using the Criteria.

EXPERIENCED TEACHER/POUAKO (FOR PRACTISING CERTIFICATES)
An experienced teacher is someone who has at least two years of teaching experience and has either:

a. demonstrated that they have met the Practising Teacher Criteria by having held full registration or a full practising certificate or its equivalent at any time in New Zealand; or

b. met the following requirements (usually overseas teachers):
   i. has held a senior teaching position (at the level of Head of Department or higher); and
   ii. has more than five years of teaching experience; and
   iii. has undertaken professional learning and development associated with teaching and learning within the last five years; and
   iv. has had a professional appraisal of their teaching and learning by a supervisor within the last five years.

Experienced teachers can either hold a full practising certificate or a subject to confirmation practising certificate.

LIKELY TO MEET THE PRACTISING TEACHER CRITERIA
A teacher is likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria if their experience and training signals that they are likely to meet the Criteria when they can be meaningfully appraised using them. This is a factor the Education Council considers when determining whether a provisionally certificated or subject to confirmation certificated teacher has completed satisfactory recent teaching experience and satisfactory professional development.
Refer to the 'Likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria Policy' for more information and explanation.

MEETS THE PRACTISING TEACHER CRITERIA

A teacher has met the Practising Teacher Criteria when:

a. they have been appraised by their professional leader who most recently employed them in a teaching position for a minimum of six consecutive weeks; and

b. this professional leader can attest that the teacher has provided evidence of meeting all of the Practising Teacher Criteria.

For provisionally certificated teachers or teachers certificated subject to confirmation who are applying to be issued with a full practising certificate, the most recent six week period of teaching is required to have been completed within the last six months.

OVERSEAS TEACHER

PRACTISING CERTIFICATE

A current practising certificate allows a teacher to be lawfully employed in a teaching position in a school, kura, kindergarten, and in most positions in early childhood education settings. A practising certificate is usually issued for three years.

Having a current practising certificate signals that a teacher has recently demonstrated that they met the requirements of being of good character and fit to be a teacher. When a teacher renews their practising certificate they are required to have completed satisfactory recent teaching experience and professional development appropriate to their category of practising certificate.

There are three categories of practising certificate: provisional, full and subject to confirmation.

The category of practising certificate is an indicator of whether a teacher has yet to meet all of the Practising Teacher Criteria for the first time (provisional), has recently met the Practising Teacher Criteria (full), or has previously met the Practising Teacher Criteria but not recently (subject to confirmation).

Depending on their category of practising certificate, a teacher may be referred to as a provisionally certificated teacher, fully certificated teacher, or teacher certificated subject to confirmation.

PRACTISING TEACHER

PRACTISING TEACHER CRITERIA

Throughout the Education Council policies and guidelines the 'Practising Teacher Criteria' can be read to mean the Practising Teacher Criteria or, until the Education Council commenced, the Registered Teacher Criteria.

10 Appraisal is required to be completed by a fully certificated teacher. In rare situations a professional leader may not be fully certificated. In this case a second endorsement is required from a fully certificated teacher who has completed the appraisal, or been closely involved in the appraisal process.

11 The Education Council issues letters of professional standing when required, for teachers seeking to be employed overseas, but will only do so when the teacher holds a current practising certificate.
RECENT TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Recent teaching experience is relevant to the definition 'satisfactory recent teaching experience' and relates to employment in a teaching position/s in the New Zealand general education system or an educational institution recognised by the Education Council. The definition of 'satisfactory recent teaching experience' varies depending on the category of practising certificate.

For a fully certificated teacher seeking renewal of their practising certificate this means either:

a. two years of uninterrupted employment in a teaching position completed within the last five years;¹² or
b. one year of uninterrupted employment in a teaching position completed within the last three years.¹³

For a provisionally certificated teacher, or teacher certificated subject to confirmation seeking renewal of their practising certificate this means the teacher has completed within the last three years:

a. six weeks of full time continuous teaching employment; or
b. 80 days of teaching employment (including day relief); or
   c. three months of full time teaching employment in an educational institution recognised by the Education Council.¹⁴

If a provisionally certificated teacher or teacher certificated subject to confirmation does not meet the above, the Education Council may exercise discretion to consider any previous teaching employment completed within the previous five years.

See the 'Satisfactory Recent Teaching Experience Policy' for further information and explanation.

SATISFACTORY PROFESSIONAL LEARNING AND DEVELOPMENT

The Education Council considers that professional learning and development is satisfactory when the teacher has met the following key indicators from the Practising Teacher Criteria:

4. i. identified professional learning goals in consultation with colleagues
4. ii. participated responsively in professional learning opportunities within the learning community
4. iii. initiated learning opportunities to advance personal professional knowledge and skills¹⁵
5. i. actively contributed to the professional learning community.¹⁶

In addition, a teacher should demonstrate criterion 12 of the Practising Teacher Criteria and its key indicators to effectively incorporate professional learning and development within their professional practice.

A teacher is required to have met all of the Practising Teacher Criteria, including the above key indicators relating to professional learning and development, to renew a full practising certificate. A teacher is required to be likely to meet all of the Criteria, including the above key indicators, to renew a provisional practising certificate or subject to confirmation practising certificate.

¹² S348, Education Act 1989. The Education Council considers that two years of uninterrupted employment means an accumulated period of teaching of not less than 72 weeks completed in blocks of six consecutive weeks or more. Any short term teaching of less than six weeks will not generally be accepted by the Education Council for renewal of a full practising certificate.
¹⁵ As described in the Practising Teacher Criteria, criterion 4.
¹⁶ As described in the Practising Teacher Criteria, criterion 5.
When a teacher applies to renew their practising certificate the Education Council may request a list of professional learning and development activities a teacher has undertaken within the last three years.

Satisfactory Recent Teaching Experience

This is defined in the Education Act 1989 as recent teaching experience (see earlier explanation and definition) that has been satisfactorily completed in the previous five years. The Education Council has discretion under s363 to determine whether a teacher has 'satisfactorily completed' their recent teaching experience.

The Education Council considers that recent teaching has been satisfactory if the teacher has met the Practising Teacher Criteria (fully certificated teachers) or is likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria once they are able to be meaningfully appraised using them (provisionally certificated teachers and teachers certificated subject to confirmation).

The Education Council will consider:

a. the view of the teacher’s professional leader, or his or her employer if the person is a professional leader;
b. whether the teacher has been able to be meaningfully appraised using the Practising Teacher Criteria;
c. whether the teacher has met the Practising Teacher Criteria, or is likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria;
and
d. any other relevant matter.

See the 'Satisfactory Recent Teaching Experience Policy' for more information and explanation.

Satisfactorily Trained to Teach

The Education Council will consider a person satisfactorily trained to teach\(^{17}\) if they:

a. have a tertiary level qualification/s that include sufficient elements of teacher education; and
b. can demonstrate that they meet the Graduating Teacher Standards.

The Education Council considers how recently the Graduating Teacher Standards have been met to be relevant for teachers applying for registration. Teachers applying to be registered six years or more after completing their Education Council-approved teaching qualification will be required to successfully complete the Teacher Education Refresh (TER) programme, unless they have also completed recent teaching employment acceptable to the Education Council.

See the 'Satisfactorily Trained to Teach Policy' for more information and explanation.

Teacher Education Refresh (TER) Programme

A programme of study and supervised practicum focused on the current education 'landscape' and changes that have occurred in education and teaching over the previous six years. TER programmes are delivered by providers approved by the Education Council and are based on a curriculum developed and owned by the Education Council.

Those provisionally certificated teachers who have made significant progress towards meeting the Practising Teacher Criteria may request a review of the requirement to undertake the TER programme. The framework for requesting a review is appended to the 'Likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria Policy'.

TEACHING POSITION

Under s348 of the Education Act 1989, a teaching position is defined as a position in the general education system that:

a. requires its holder to instruct students; or
b. is the professional leader\(^\text{18}\), deputy professional leader, or assistant principal of a school; or
c. is the professional leader of an early childhood service or other educational institution.

The Education Council interprets ‘instructs students’ as the person in the teaching position having responsibility for teaching and learning.

A person is considered to have responsibility for teaching and learning if their job description expects them to:

a. cause learning (either as an individual or a member of a teaching team) and
b. to act autonomously and without day to day supervision.

For clarity, the Education Council considers this:

a. includes positions where the teacher has responsibility for the teaching and learning of other teachers, but may not have regular contact with children or young people;

b. includes casual and day-relief positions;

c. includes positions where the teacher receives mentoring or other forms of regular support and supervision from other teachers as they still retain autonomy for their own teaching and learning and are expected to be teaching without day-to-day supervision;

d. excludes the position of teacher aide and other educational support staff.

"TOO PART TIME OR TOO CASUAL"

This is relevant to a teacher’s ability to be appraised using the Practising Teacher Criteria and their eligibility to renew a full practising certificate. When used in this policy this means:

a. in the view of the teacher’s professional leader, the teaching position has been too casual to enable the teacher to be meaningfully appraised using the Practising Teacher Criteria. This might occur for example where the teaching position is casual or day relief teaching and the teacher has no consistent relationship with any one class, group of students or programme of learning within any one school, centre or kura; or

b. in the view of the teacher’s professional leader, the teaching position has been too part time to enable the teacher to be meaningfully appraised using the Practising Teacher Criteria. This might occur for example where a teaching position is for so few hours each week that their professional leader does not consider it meaningful or possible to undertake formal appraisal where the teacher can demonstrate, with evidence, meeting all of the Practising Teacher Criteria.

The Education Council will determine in any individual situation whether the professional leader’s assessment that the position was ‘too part time or too casual’ was reasonable in the circumstances.

\(^{18}\) Section 348 of the Education Act 1989 defines the ‘professional leader’ of a school as the principal. For a partnership school kura hourua, the ‘professional leader’ is the person to whom the sponsor has assigned the role of supervising teaching practice.
PART C: A BRIEF OVERVIEW OF TEACHER REGISTRATION AND PRACTISING CERTIFICATES

This part provides a brief summary of registration and practising certificates. See Section Two: Teacher Registration and Practising Certificate Framework for a detailed description of the main elements of the registration and practising certificate framework.

The importance and purpose of teacher registration and practising certificates

1. Being both registered and holding a current practising certificate is a signal of a teacher’s professionalism and integrity. A current practising certificate is one of the main ways that employers, colleagues, learners and the wider community can be assured that a teacher is qualified, safe and competent.

2. Teacher registration on its own cannot guarantee teacher quality; however registration and the issue and ongoing renewal of practising certificates to practising teachers provides a consistent and professional foundation of standards on which expectations of continual learning and improvement for practising teachers can be built.

3. By law, anyone employed in a teaching position in schools, kura, kindergartens and in most positions in early childhood education settings in the New Zealand general education system must hold a current practising certificate and be a registered member of the teaching profession. In some special circumstances people who have specialist skills but are not trained teachers may be employed with a Limited Authority to Teach (LAT), granted for a position requiring specific skills for a short period of time.

4. There are also teachers who choose to renew their practising certificate, even when this is not a legal requirement for their employment (for example, teachers who no longer teach in the general education system, but are employed in a teaching position in an educational institution recognised by the Education Council). Renewing a practising certificate reflects:
   a. teachers’ ongoing ability to demonstrate that they are of good character and fit to be a teacher; and
   b. that they have demonstrated their professional knowledge and competence by being recently employed in a teaching position; and
   c. they have demonstrated that they have either met the Practising Teacher Criteria, or are likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria.

5. Registration indicates at the time of the decision to register the teacher, the Education Council determined the teacher was appropriately trained for the profession and of good character and fit to be a teacher. The only way up to date assurance of good character and fitness to teach can be had after that time is by the teacher holding a current practising certificate. A current practising certificate is also the only indicator that a teacher has recently been required to meet a specific set of standards relating to professional knowledge and practice.

Requirements for registration

6. To be granted registration a teacher must be satisfactorily trained to teach, and demonstrate that they are of good character and fit to be a teacher.

19 People employed as teachers outside of the general education system (e.g. in museums, private training establishments, or alternative education settings) are not legally required to be registered teachers, although their employment agreement may require them to be.
7. A person may not be registered if they have been convicted of a specified offence listed in the Vulnerable Children Act 2014, unless an exemption has been granted.20

8. Registration is granted only once and does not expire; however registration can be cancelled in certain circumstances.21

9. As a result of the Vulnerable Children Act 2014 employers are required to carry out specific safety checking processes. The Education Council requires third party verification of identity for New Zealand Police vetting purposes, but does not carry out the full safety checking process that is required by regulation under the Vulnerable Children Act 2014.

10. The Education Council conducts Police vetting for the purpose of approving teacher registration only once; as registration does not expire there is no reapplication process. Anyone employing or engaging a registered teacher in a role that does not require the teacher to hold a practising certificate must also carry out their own Police vetting to be satisfied about the teacher’s character and fitness to work with children.

11. The Children’s Action Plan resource Safer recruitment, Safer children: Guidelines for choosing safe people to work with children22 provides further guidance on checking a person’s safety for working with children.

Practising Certificates

12. All teachers employed in a teaching position must hold a current practising certificate.23

13. Practising certificates are usually issued for a period of three years.

14. Having a current practising certificate signals that a teacher has recently demonstrated that they:
   a. have either met the Practising Teacher Criteria recently; or
   b. are likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria; and
   c. have met the other requirements for certification in their category; and
   d. can be lawfully employed in a teaching position.

Cancellation

15. A practising certificate can be cancelled in certain situations. These situations may include a failure to meet the required level of competence following investigation, or an order from the Disciplinary Tribunal for cancellation on grounds of misconduct or serious misconduct.24

16. It is possible for a teacher to continue to be registered when their practising certificate has been cancelled, but only if the practising certificate was cancelled due to failure to meet the required level of competence.25 The online register gives the most up to date information on the status of a teacher’s practising certificate.

21 S357 of the Education Act 1989 requires registration to be cancelled if a teacher no longer satisfies the requirements for registration, the registration was effected by mistake or obtained by fraud, or the Disciplinary Tribunal has ordered that the registration be cancelled.

23 A person may be employed in a teaching position for no more than 10 full days or 20 half days per calendar year without holding a practising certificate or authorisation from the Education Council (s350 of the Education Act 1989).

24 A practising certificate may also be cancelled if a teacher no longer meets the requirements for being issued with a practising certificate. Section 362 of the Education Act 1989 sets out all situations whereby the Education Council must cancel a practising certificate.

25 Education Act 1989, s412.
17. When a teacher’s registration is cancelled, their practising certificate is also cancelled.\textsuperscript{26}

18. A teacher may apply again for registration and/or a practising certificate.\textsuperscript{27}

Categories of practising certificate

19. There are three different categories of practising certificate: provisional, full and subject to confirmation.

20. The different categories of practising certificate indicate a stage in a teacher’s development. They are not a signal of how good a teacher is at their job.

21. The category of practising certificate that a teacher has signals:
   a. whether the teacher is new to the New Zealand teaching profession or if they are an experienced teacher; and
   b. how recently the teacher has been assessed as meeting all of the Practising Teacher Criteria.

22. Regardless of their category, all teachers who wish to hold a current practising certificate are required to be competent and engaged in on-going professional development and learning to continually improve the quality of their teaching.

23. The Education Council expects that all certificated teachers will retain and reflect on evidence of their professional practice by maintaining a portfolio of evidence.

24. If a teacher is provisionally certificated this signals that:
   a. they have not yet had the opportunity to demonstrate that they meet all of the Practising Teacher Criteria; and
   b. they are (usually) a newly qualified teacher; or
   c. they may be new to the New Zealand teaching profession; and
   d. they will need to be completing a broad-based programme of induction and mentoring, supported by a fully certificated mentor teacher, in order to be able to be meaningfully assessed using the Practising Teacher Criteria.

25. Once provisionally certificated teachers have been assessed as meeting all of the Practising Teacher Criteria, the Education Council expects that they will apply for a full practising certificate.

26. The Education Council expects that provisionally certificated teachers will become fully certificated within three years of being issued with their provisional practising certificate, but they may renew their provisional practising certificate when there are valid reasons for doing so.

27. The Teacher Education Refresh (TER) programme is a requirement for any teacher who has not been issued with a full practising certificate and who needs to be issued with or renew their provisional practising certificate six years or more after becoming registered.

28. If a teacher is fully certificated this signals that:
   a. they are an experienced teacher; and
   b. they have recent teaching experience; and
   c. they have recently been meaningfully appraised using, and have met, all of the Practising Teacher Criteria.

\textsuperscript{26} Section 361(2)(a) requires all teachers who hold a practising certificate to also be a registered teacher.

\textsuperscript{27} Education Act 1989, s357(3) and s362(3).
29. If a teacher is certificated subject to confirmation this signals that:
   a. they are an experienced teacher; and
   b. for valid reasons they have not been able to be meaningfully appraised using the Practising Teacher Criteria within the last five years.

30. When teachers certificated subject to confirmation have met the teaching service requirement and have been able to be meaningfully appraised using and meet the Practising Teacher Criteria they are expected to apply for a full practising certificate.

31. Teachers retain registration when their practising certificate expires and has not been renewed, which may be because the teacher has retired, chosen to leave the teaching profession or has sought employment outside of the general education system or an educational institution recognised by the Education Council.

32. Teachers may voluntarily deregister (if they write to the Education Council and ask to be taken off the register).

33. The Education Council may cancel a teacher's registration in certain circumstances (such as for issues of conduct or failure to meet the requirements to be registered).²⁸

²⁸ Education Act 1989, s357.
This section provides a detailed description of each of the main elements of the framework – how they work and why.

Part A: Joining the New Zealand Teaching Profession
- Qualifying as a teacher in New Zealand
- Overseas teachers
- Requirements for becoming a registered teacher

Part B: Categories of Practising Certificate:
- Provisional Practising Certificate
- Full Practising Certificate
- Subject to Confirmation Practising Certificate

Part C: Pathway to being issued with a Full Practising Certificate

For information on the formal policies that underpin this framework, see Section Three: Policy Documents.
PART A: JOINING THE NEW ZEALAND TEACHING PROFESSION

1. The two key requirements for becoming a registered member of the New Zealand teaching profession and being issued with a practising certificate are that a person is:
   a. satisfactorily trained to teach; and
   b. of good character and fit to be a teacher, including having a satisfactory Police vet.

2. A teacher may be lawfully employed in a teaching position (in a school, kura, kindergartens and in most positions in an early childhood education setting) only if they are both registered and hold a current practising certificate.

3. A teacher may call themselves a registered teacher when the Education Council has granted them registration in accordance with s353 of the Education Act 1989. It is an offence to use the term ‘registered teacher’ if a person is not registered.\(^9\)

Qualifying as a teacher in New Zealand

4. S354 of the Education Act 1989 enables the Education Council to determine whether a teacher is satisfactorily trained to teach.

5. Qualified teachers have studied pedagogy – the process of teaching and learning – including how children/students/young people learn, how contextual factors influence teaching and learning, curricula, planning, assessment, evaluation and strategies for engaging diverse learners. Qualified teachers are also often able and expected to specialise in more than one curriculum area.

6. People wishing to join the New Zealand teaching profession must successfully graduate from an approved initial teacher education (ITE) programme to meet the registration requirement of being satisfactorily trained to teach.

7. The Education Council has the responsibility to approve ITE programmes and to set standards for graduates from the programmes.\(^10\)

8. Approved ITE programmes comprise a mix of curriculum, learning and pedagogical theory, professional studies, practicum experiences, and cultural studies that prepare people to teach in the complex and challenging education environment in Aotearoa New Zealand.

9. There are three main types of approved ITE programme:
   a. an undergraduate degree of three or four years’ length; and
   b. a graduate diploma of one (to one and a third) year’s length; and
   c. a master’s degree of one year’s length.

10. In order to be considered satisfactorily trained to teach a person who completes a one year graduate diploma or master’s programme must demonstrate that they have met the required academic entry standards, including the required level of English and/or te reo Māori language proficiency, as well as successfully completing the programme. This means having an entry qualification that meets the Education Council’s requirements, set out in the ‘Entry to Graduate Diploma Programmes for Initial Teacher Education Policy’.

\(^9\) Education Act 1989, s137(1)(b).
\(^10\) The Education Council’s Approval, Review and Monitoring Process and Requirements for Initial Teacher Education sets out how the Education Council determines the requirements for the approval of an ITE programme.
11. All Education Council-approved ITE programmes are at Level 7 or above on the NZQF.
12. A current list of all approved ITE programmes can be found on the Education Council’s website.
13. The Graduating Teacher Standards have been developed by the Education Council to ensure that all graduates entering the profession:
   a. understand the critical role teachers play in enabling the education achievement of all ākonga; and
   b. have up-to-date content knowledge (i.e. they know what to teach); and
   c. have up-to-date pedagogical knowledge (i.e. they know how to teach).
14. By successfully graduating from an approved ITE programme a person demonstrates that they meet the Graduating Teacher Standards.
15. The Education Council also considers the recency of a teacher’s qualification to be relevant to whether they are satisfactorily trained to teach.
16. In order to become registered, a person is required to have completed an approved ITE qualification within the previous six years. If their ITE qualification was granted six years ago (or more), they are required to complete the Teacher Education Refresh (TER) programme to ensure that their knowledge and skills are sufficiently up to date for them to teach effectively in the current New Zealand education environment.

OVERSEAS TEACHERS

17. Any person who has trained as a teacher outside of New Zealand and wishes to become registered in New Zealand is required to demonstrate that they have a comparable level of qualifications and teacher education to be considered satisfactorily trained to teach by the Education Council.
18. The New Zealand Qualifications Authority (NZQA) has expertise in the assessment of international qualifications against New Zealand benchmarks. The Education Council requires any overseas teacher to provide an international qualifications assessment report from NZQA that has been completed and issued by NZQA within the previous five years. This provides the Education Council both with assurance that the awarding body has accreditation and with essential information about the content, depth of study and levelling of the person’s international qualifications against the New Zealand Qualifications Framework.
19. If NZQA assesses a person’s overseas qualifications as comparable or holding the core components of an approved New Zealand teaching qualification, and they were awarded within the previous six years, they will generally be considered to be satisfactorily trained to teach in New Zealand.
20. The Education Council may also accept as satisfactorily trained to teach overseas teachers who have a qualification that is assessed by NZQA as not comparable to a New Zealand ITE qualification. In those situations where an overseas teacher has significant teaching experience, the Education Council will consider as a whole package their qualifications including tertiary level teaching qualifications, teaching experience and evidence of ongoing professional development to determine whether they are considered satisfactorily trained to teach. More information on this discretionary pathway can be found in the ‘Satisfactorily Trained to Teach Policy’.
21. Teaching experience on its own will not be sufficient for becoming registered in New Zealand. To be registered as a teacher a person needs to have a tertiary level qualification that includes sufficient elements of teacher education and pedagogical study.

31. The Graduating Teacher Standards are included in Section Four: Standards and Guidelines.
32. Overseas teachers who were awarded their teaching qualification more than six years ago, but who have recent teaching service acceptable to the Education Council may also be considered satisfactorily trained to teach without being required to complete the TER programme. Refer to the ‘Satisfactorily Trained to Teach Policy’ for further information.
22. As well as being satisfactorily trained to teach it is important for all overseas teachers to have specific guidance and support in understanding the needs of diverse learners and the unique bicultural context for teaching in New Zealand.

23. In order to ensure that teachers are satisfactorily trained to teach the Education Council will be increasingly focusing on ensuring that the knowledge and understanding of overseas teachers is comparable to graduates of approved ITE programmes with regards to their cultural competencies.33

24. For this reason, it is unlikely that an overseas teacher (with the exception of some States/Territories in Australia, as outlined in paragraph 26) would be eligible to gain a full practising certificate on their first application.

25. All overseas teachers will need to undertake teaching with induction and mentoring provided by a fully certificated mentor teacher prior to being eligible to apply for a full practising certificate. The induction and mentoring programme will be particularly focused on supporting overseas teachers with teaching effectively in the New Zealand context.

Trans-Tasman Mutual Recognition

26. Teachers who are lawfully eligible to practice in one of the recognised States or Territories in Australia (this may be in the form of registration, membership or accreditation depending on the jurisdiction) may be eligible to be considered for registration and a practising certificate under the provisions of the Trans-Tasman Mutual Recognition Act 1997.34

27. Teachers eligible to apply under this provision are not required to obtain an international qualifications assessment report from NZQA for their registration application.35 They will need to provide evidence of holding current registration in the relevant category with an approved State/Territory with their application.

Being of good character and fit to be a teacher

28. In order to both become a registered teacher and be issued with a practising certificate a person is required to also meet the following requirements:36
   a. be of good character and fit to be a teacher (which includes having a satisfactory Police vet); and
   b. be proficient in English and/or te reo Māori.

29. A person may not become a registered teacher if they have been convicted of a specified offence, unless an exemption has been sought and granted.37

33 A supporting resource to help assess teachers' cultural competencies (as described in Tātaiako), and to align these competencies to the Graduating Teacher Standards and Practising Teacher Criteria is available on the Education Council website.

34 Trans-Tasman Mutual Recognition Act 1997, s15.

35 Note that this may be required by the Ministry of Education for salary assessment purposes.

PROVISIONAL PRACTISING CERTIFICATE

This section provides information about the requirements and processes that apply when a provisional practising certificate is issued and renewed.

The requirements for being issued with a full practising certificate are set out in Part C: ‘Pathway to being issued with a Full Practising Certificate’.

Introduction

1. A teacher is usually issued with a provisional practising certificate when they first become registered.

2. It is a requirement that a teacher hold a current practising certificate in order to be lawfully employed in a teaching position in a school, kura, kindergarten and in most teaching positions in early childhood education settings.

3. Teachers who hold a provisional practising certificate are usually newly qualified teachers. Provisional certification provides them with an opportunity to:
   a. make the transition from being a student teacher to being a confident and effective teacher; and
   b. become accomplished and effective teachers who can improve the learning outcomes of diverse ākonga; and
   c. progressively demonstrate that they meet the Practising Teacher Criteria; and
   d. build a strong foundation of self-reflection and ongoing professional learning.

4. Provisional certification signals to employers and the profession that the teacher has limited or no teaching experience and requires support through a high quality induction and mentoring programme to:
   a. enable them to demonstrate that they know how to teach effectively in New Zealand; and
   b. show, over time, that they meet all of the Practising Teacher Criteria; and
   c. understand how to demonstrate the Code of Ethics for Certificated Teachers – Ngā Tikanga Matatīa mō ngā Pouako Kua Whiwhi Tohu Whakaako in their practice; and
   d. become part of a learning community where they can both bring new knowledge to the profession and learn from more experienced teachers around them.

5. The Education Council considers the Practising Teacher Criteria paramount in defining the teaching benchmark for practising certificate purposes.
6. The Education Council expects teachers to hold a provisional practising certificate for a minimum of two years and then be ready to be recommended by their professional leader and mentor teacher for a full practising certificate.

7. After three years a teacher may apply again for a provisional practising certificate, if the Education Council considers that the teacher meets the requirements and has valid reasons for not yet being able to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria and be issued with a full practising certificate.

8. The Education Council requires teachers to complete the Teacher Education Refresh (TER) programme if they have not met the teaching service requirements to be issued with a full practising certificate six years or more after first becoming registered.

Requirements

9. In order to be issued with a provisional practising certificate a person must be:
   a. a registered teacher; and
   b. up to date in terms of their professional knowledge and practice; and
   c. of good character and fit to be a teacher; and
   d. proficient in English and/or te reo Māori; and
   e. committed to upholding the Code of Ethics for Certificated Teachers – Ngā Tikanga Matatika mō ngā Pouako Kua Whiwhi Tohu Whakaako.

10. To renew a provisional practising certificate a teacher must meet all of the above requirements, and:
    a. have completed satisfactory recent teaching experience; and
    b. have completed satisfactory professional development within the past three years.
If any matters are disclosed from the Police vet or declaration section of the form, they will be considered as outlined in the ‘Good Character and Fit to be a Teacher Policy’.

See paragraph 11 a)-f) of the ‘Good Character and Fit to be a Teacher Policy’.

While it will not usually be necessary to require evidence of language proficiency for a future renewal of a provisional practising certificate, the Education Council may ask for evidence in accordance with the policy ‘Language Proficiency Requirements for Teaching in Aotearoa New Zealand’.

49 The Education Act 1989 defines ‘satisfactory recent teaching experience’ as two years of uninterrupted teaching completed within the previous five years, but allows the Education Council to approve a shorter period of time. If a provisionally certificated teacher has completed two years of uninterrupted teaching employment within the previous five years, it would be expected that they may be able to apply to be issued with a full practising certificate. See Section Two, Part C: ‘Pathway to Gaining a Full Practising Certificate’.

50 The Education Council will determine whether a testimonial is acceptable based on the sufficiency of the teacher’s employment at the relevant school or centre.

51 For overseas teachers with some teaching experience in their home country, the expectation is that they become provisionally certificated in New Zealand while they still have recent teaching experience so that they can demonstrate that their professional knowledge and practice is up to date. Generally, all overseas teachers need to additionally complete supervised teaching in New Zealand prior to applying for a full practising certificate.
their ITE qualification six years ago (or more) are required to complete the Teacher Education Refresh (TER) programme before applying for registration and being issued with a provisional practising certificate.52

13. Provisionally certificated teachers are expected to meet the requirements to be issued with a full practising certificate within three years. However the Education Council recognises that, for valid reasons, this is not always possible. These reasons may include:

a. not yet being able to demonstrate meeting all of the Practising Teacher Criteria, but their professional leader can provide assurance that:
   i. satisfactory progress towards meeting all of the Practising Teacher Criteria is being made; and
   ii. there will be continuing support for the teacher in order for them to be able to demonstrate that they do meet all of the Practising Teacher Criteria within the next three years; or
b. the teacher being absent on parental leave; or
c. ill health (of the teacher or a close relative) that precludes a teacher from working; or
d. the teacher living overseas; or
e. the teacher being unable to secure a 0.5 FTTE teaching position; or
f. the teacher being employed in a setting where it is not possible for the teacher to participate in a two year, broad-based induction and mentoring programme while being mentored by a fully certificated teacher.

14. Provisionally certificated teachers are expected to access and fully engage in a high quality induction and mentoring programme that is comprehensive, educative and evaluative.53 The Education Council advises provisionally certificated teachers to ascertain that their employer can provide an induction and mentoring programme before accepting an offer of employment in a teaching position. Both the provisionally certificated teacher and employer are required by the Education Council to keep records of the induction and mentoring programme, and of the teacher meeting the Practising Teacher Criteria.

Relevant policies

15. This section of the Framework should be read in conjunction with the following policies, standards and guidelines:

- Good Character and Fit to be a Teacher Policy
- Likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria Policy
- Language Proficiency Requirements for Teaching in Aotearoa New Zealand
- Practising Teacher Criteria
- Code of Ethics for Certificated Teachers = Ngā Tikanga Matatika mā ngā Pouako Kua Whiwhi Tohu Whakaako
- Guidelines for Induction and Mentoring and Mentor Teachers

52 In rare situations a teacher may request to not be issued with a practising certificate at the time they apply for registration. If they apply for a practising certificate for the first time six years or more after they were granted registration, they will be required to successfully complete the TER programme before being issued with a practising certificate.

53 The Guidelines for Induction and Mentoring and Mentor Teachers describe the requirements and expectations for high quality induction and mentoring programmes and are included in Section Four: Standards and Guidelines.

FULL PRACTISING CERTIFICATE

This section provides information about the requirements and processes that apply to renewing a full practising certificate.

The requirements for a provisionally certificated teacher or teacher certificated subject to confirmation to be issued with a full practising certificate are set out in Part C: ‘Pathway to being issued with a Full Practising Certificate’.

Introduction

1. A full practising certificate can be renewed by experienced teachers who can demonstrate that they have recent satisfactory teaching experience and have recently been appraised using, and have met, all of the Practising Teacher Criteria.

2. The Education Council considers the Practising Teacher Criteria paramount in defining the teaching benchmark for practising certificate purposes.

3. The majority of practising teachers in New Zealand hold a full practising certificate.

4. Full certification is an indicator that the teacher:
   a. has had at least two years of teaching experience; and
   b. has been inducted into the teaching profession by successfully completing a two year programme of induction and mentoring that is comprehensive, educative and evaluative;44 and
   c. has been endorsed as being appraised using and as having met, all of the Practising Teacher Criteria within the last three to five years.

5. A current practising certificate is a requirement to be lawfully employed in a teaching position in a school, kura, kindergarten and in most teaching positions in early childhood education settings.

Requirements

6. To renew a full practising certificate, a teacher is required to:
   a. be of good character and fit to be a teacher, which includes having a satisfactory Police vet; and
   b. be proficient in English and/or te reo Māori
   c. have completed satisfactory recent teaching experience; and
   d. have completed satisfactory professional development during the last three years; and
   e. be committed to upholding the Code of Ethics for Certificated Teachers – Ngā Tikanga Matatika mō ngā Pouako Kua Whiwhi Tohu Whakaako.

44 The Guidelines for Induction and Mentoring and Mentor Teachers describe the requirements and expectations for high quality induction and mentoring programmes and are included in Section Four: Standards and Guidelines.

| Satisfactorily completed teaching experience\(^{57}\) | The teacher has recently been meaningfully appraised using, and has met, all of the Practising Teacher Criteria while holding a practising certificate. | The professional leader who last employed the teacher in New Zealand in a continuous teaching position for at least six weeks has provided an endorsement that:
  i. the teacher has provided the professional leader with evidence of meeting all of the Practising Teacher Criteria; and
  ii. in the judgement of the professional leader, the teacher has demonstrated that they have met all of the Practising Teacher Criteria. |
| Recent teaching experience | The teacher has completed within the general education system or a setting approved by the Education Council:
  a. two years\(^{58}\) of teaching experience completed within the last five years; or
  b. one year\(^{59}\) of teaching experience within the last three years. | The teacher has provided a completed list of teaching service. |
| Satisfactory professional development during the past three years | The teacher has completed sufficient professional development for their professional leader to be assured that they meet all of the Practising Teacher Criteria, including criteria 4 (i)(ii)(iii), 5 (i) and 12. | The professional leader has signed an endorsement that the teacher has been appraised using, and has met, all of the Practising Teacher Criteria. |
| Committed to upholding the Code of Ethics | The teacher confirms they are committed to upholding the Code of Ethics. | On each application, a teacher must sign a declaration that they are committed to upholding the Code of Ethics. |

\(^{58}\) Two years of uninterrupted employment (see Education Act 1989, s348) means an accumulated period of not less than 72 weeks completed in blocks of six consecutive weeks or more.
\(^{59}\) One year of uninterrupted employment (see Education Act 1989, s348) means an accumulated period of not less than 36 weeks completed in blocks of six consecutive weeks or more.
The Education Council’s expectations

7. The Education Council expects experienced teachers who are employed in teaching positions to be regularly appraised using, and demonstrate that they meet, all of the Practising Teacher Criteria.

8. The Education Council expects teachers to have evidence of having engaged with and met each of the Practising Teacher Criteria through the course of their daily teaching practice and as part of their setting’s appraisal process.

9. The Education Council expects this evidence to be used by professional leaders as the basis for making their decision as to whether a teacher has recently met all of the Practising Teacher Criteria.

10. To renew a full practising certificate, the Education Council does not require a teacher to be employed for a specific amount of teaching per week, but it will require that their teaching service has been sufficient (i.e. neither too part-time nor too casual) as well as meeting the requirement of being recent to enable their professional leader to undertake meaningful appraisal using the Practising Teacher Criteria.

11. The Education Council may ask to see copies of the evidence of engaging with and meeting all of the Practising Teacher Criteria, but will not do so as a matter of course. The Education Council will only request this information when it can provide a reason for doing so.

Evidence of appraisal

12. Generally, the Education Council considers that successful appraisal using the Practising Teacher Criteria would include:

   a. a process by which success criteria are agreed; and
   b. goal setting; and
   c. indicators of success; and
   d. identification of timeframes and actions
   e. identification of support that will be required for the teacher to be successful; and
   f. evidence that ākonga achievement and learning are at the centre of the process and the teacher’s professional practice.

13. Evidence of high quality appraisal will generally include a learning portfolio comprising:

   a. teaching as inquiry; and
   b. observations/feedback; and
   c. evidence of learning; and
   d. student voice; and
   e. informal feedback; and
   f. contribution to the wider school/centre (including feedback from other staff).

60 Refer to ‘Definitions used in the Registration Policy’ for the definition of recent teaching service and meeting the Practising Teacher Criteria.

This framework underpins aligned, robust appraisal systems for schooling and early childhood education settings. It illustrates the relationships between four central components, each enacted as culturally competent practices. Such systems support teachers’ appraisals for attaining and maintaining full certification, fostering their professional learning and ensuring optimal outcomes of learning and achievement for ākonga.

SUBJECT TO CONFIRMATION PRACTISING CERTIFICATE

This section provides information about the requirements and processes that apply to the issue and renewal of a practising certificate in the category subject to confirmation.

The requirements for being issued with a full practising certificate are set out in Part C: ‘Pathway to being issued with a Full Practising Certificate’.

Introduction

1. A practising certificate in the category subject to confirmation is for experienced teachers who have previously met the Practising Teacher Criteria.

2. A subject to confirmation practising certificate signals that the teacher:
   a. has had at least two years of teaching experience; and
   b. has in the past been inducted into the teaching profession by successfully completing a two year programme of induction and mentoring (or its equivalent) that is comprehensive, educative and evaluative, but
   c. for valid reasons has not recently been able to be meaningfully appraised using the Practising Teacher Criteria.

3. It is a requirement that a teacher hold a current practising certificate in order to be lawfully employed in a teaching position in a school, kura, kindergarten and in most teaching positions in early childhood education settings.

4. The most common reasons for teachers being certificated subject to confirmation are:
   a. they have recently been employed in teaching positions that are too part-time or too casual to enable the teacher to be meaningfully appraised using the Practising Teacher Criteria (they do not meet the criteria to be issued with or renew a full practising certificate); or
   b. they are returning to teaching after having been employed overseas or having taken a break from the profession for personal or career reasons; or
   c. they are an experienced overseas teacher.

5. The Education Council considers the Practising Teacher Criteria paramount in defining the teaching benchmark for holding a practising certificate.

6. A subject to confirmation practising certificate does not signal that the teacher cannot meet the Practising Teacher Criteria, nor does it signal that there are any competence or conduct issues associated with a teacher.

7. Instead this category of practising certificate signals that a teacher’s experience and qualifications mean that they are likely to be able to meet all of the Practising Teacher Criteria, but that they have not recently had the opportunity to demonstrate the Criteria in their practice. When they do again have the opportunity to be meaningfully assessed and meet the Practising Teacher Criteria, they are expected to again apply to be issued with a full practising certificate.

62 The Guidelines for Induction and Mentoring and Mentor Teachers describe the requirements and expectations for high quality induction and mentoring programmes and are included in Section Four: Standards and Guidelines.

63 Refer to Definitions used in the Registration Policy for further information about when the Education Council considers an overseas trained teacher to be an experienced teacher.
Requirements

8. In order to be issued with a subject to confirmation practising certificate a teacher is required to be:
   a. a registered teacher; and
   b. of good character and fit to be a teacher; and
   c. proficient in English and/or te reo Māori; and
   d. an experienced teacher; and
   e. committed to upholding the Code of Ethics for Certificated Teachers – Ngā Tikanga Matatika mō ngā Pouako Kua Whiwhi Tohu Whakaako.

9. To renew a subject to confirmation practising certificate a teacher must meet all of the above requirements, and:
   a. have completed satisfactory recent teaching as appropriate for this category of practising certificate; and
   b. have completed satisfactory professional development in the past three years.

\(^{65}\) See paragraph 11 a)-f) of the ‘Good Character and Fit to be a Teacher Policy.’
Requirement | The Education Council considers that this means | Evidence required
---|---|---
Proficient in English and/or te reo Māori | The teacher meets the minimum level language proficiency requirements. | Language proficiency is relevant to a teacher’s fitness to teach. Registered teachers will have been required to demonstrate that they are language proficient when applying for registration.\(^{66}\)

Is an experienced teacher | Has either:
- demonstrated that they have met the Practising Teacher Criteria by having held a full practising certificate or its equivalent in the past; or
- held a senior teaching position; and:
  - more than five years of teaching experience; and
  - undertaken professional learning and development associated with teaching and learning within the last five years; and
  - had a professional appraisal of their teaching by a supervisor within the last five years. | The Education Council will have a record of the types of practising certificate and/or registration the teacher held with the Teachers Council or the Education Council in the past. Teachers may be asked to provide:
  1. a copy of their Curriculum Vitae; and
  2. statements on letterhead from relevant schools/centres confirming details of their employment; and
  3. testimonials on school/centre letterhead from professional leaders who have employed them; and
  4. a list of their recent professional learning and development; and
  5. evidence of their recent appraisal.

Committed to upholding the Code of Ethics | The teacher confirms they are committed to upholding the Code of Ethics. | On each application, a teacher must sign a declaration that they are committed to upholding the Code of Ethics.

Additional requirements for the renewal of a subject to confirmation practising certificate

| Satisfactory recent teaching experience\(^{67}\) | ‘Satisfactory’ means that the teacher is likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria once they have the opportunity to be meaningfully appraised using them. ‘Recent’ means within the last three to five years.\(^{68}\) | Within the last three years the teacher has completed at least:
  1. six weeks of full time continuous teaching employment in the general education system; or
  2. 80 days of teaching employment in the general education system (including day relief); or
  3. three months of full time teaching employment in an educational institution recognised by the Education Council.

\(^{66}\) While it will not usually be necessary to require evidence of language proficiency for a future renewal of a subject to confirmation practising certificate, the Education Council may ask for evidence in accordance with the policy ‘Language Proficiency Requirements for Teaching in Aotearoa New Zealand’.

\(^{67}\) The Education Act 1989 defines ‘satisfactory recent teaching experience’ as two years of uninterrupted teaching completed within the previous five years, but allows the Education Council to approve a shorter period of time.

\(^{68}\) If a teacher applying to renew their subject to confirmation practising certificate has not completed any teaching employment within the previous five years, the Education Council may issue the teacher with a subject to confirmation practising certificate but will require a ‘return to practice’ plan. A ‘return to practice’ plan requires a teacher to identify their professional learning needs to re-enter the profession as a certificated teacher and to be an effective teacher, and the professional development and learning activities they intend to undertake address these needs. The Education Council may also require this if a teacher has completed recent teaching that is so minimal that no assurance can be provided either from the teacher or a professional leader that the teacher is likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria.

The Education Council’s expectations

10. Teachers who are certificated subject to confirmation are expected to gain a full practising certificate within one to three years. The Education Council expects that most teachers certificated in this category who are employed in a teaching position will be meaningfully appraised using, and meet, all of the Practising Teacher Criteria within one to three years. The Education Council considers that the only valid reasons that the teacher has not been meaningfully appraised using the Practising Teacher Criteria would be that the teacher’s employment has been (in the judgement of their employing professional leader) too part-time or too casual for meaningful appraisal using the Practising Teacher Criteria.

11. The Education Council will determine in any individual situation whether the professional leader’s assessment that the position was ‘too part time or too casual’ was reasonable in the circumstances.

PART C: PATHWAY TO BEING ISSUED WITH A FULL PRACTISING CERTIFICATE

This section provides information about the requirements and processes that apply when a teacher who holds either a provisional or subject to confirmation practising certificate seeks to be issued with a full practising certificate.

Introduction

1. Being issued with a full practising certificate is a significant step in a teacher's career. The key requirement for a full practising certificate that differs from the other two categories of practising certificate is that the teacher must be able to satisfy the Education Council that they have recently met all of the Practising Teacher Criteria.

2. A teacher will only transition to a full practising certificate from a provisional practising certificate once in their teaching career. The other pathway to full certification is from certification subject to confirmation, which may apply to teachers new to New Zealand but with overseas experience, or to teachers who have previously held a full practising certificate in New Zealand. It is possible that a teacher may progress to full certification from certification subject to confirmation more than once in their teaching career, depending on their professional and life choices.

3. Teachers with a provisional practising certificate or a subject to confirmation practising certificate are entitled to receive specific support from their employing school or centre, in the form of an induction and mentoring programme to assist them with meeting the Practising Teacher Criteria.

4. For a teacher to gain a full practising certificate from a provisional practising certificate the Education Council will require confirmation that the teacher has recently completed an appropriate two year induction and mentoring programme while employed in a teaching role of at least 0.5 FTTE.

5. For a teacher to gain a full practising certificate from a subject to confirmation practising certificate the Education Council will require confirmation that the teacher has recently completed an adequate mentoring programme for an experienced teacher while employed in a teaching role which is sufficient for meaningful appraisal to have taken place over at least one year.

6. When a teacher's application for a full practising certificate is approved by the Education Council their provisional or subject to confirmation practising certificate will be replaced by a full practising certificate. The full practising certificate will expire after three years.

7. In order to be issued with a full practising certificate a teacher must have sufficient teaching service to have enabled an induction and mentoring programme to have been implemented, as approved by the Education Council. The teaching employment is required to have been completed within the general education system.

Provisionally certificated teachers

8. Provisionally certificated teachers are likely to be newly qualified teachers who require an intensive and sustained period of induction and mentoring to embed the theory learned in their initial teacher education (ITE) programme and to apply this in practice. Teachers certificated subject to confirmation are experienced teachers who have met the Practising Teacher Criteria in the past.

9. Provisionally certificated teachers are teachers who are yet to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria for the first time. During their induction into the teaching profession, they will be required to document both the process of induction and mentoring they have undertaken over at least two years and maintain a folio of evidence that will enable their mentor teacher and professional leader to confirm to the Education Council that the provisionally certificated teacher has met all of the Criteria.
10. Documenting their induction programme requires the teacher and mentor to record activities such as:
   a. evidence informed reflection completed by the teacher on their developing professional relationships, values and knowledge informed practice (framed by the Practising Teacher Criteria), and linking reflection to evidence of student achievement;
   b. teaching observations;
   c. meetings to set goals, follow up on goals previously set, review teaching observations completed by the mentor and regularly evaluate the structure and content of the induction programme;
   d. written formative and summative feedback provided to the teacher by their mentor on progress towards meeting the Practising Teacher Criteria;
   e. evidence of engagement in, and reflection on professional learning and development opportunities.

11. The portfolio of evidence for meeting the Practising Teacher Criteria must be sufficient to enable the mentor teacher and professional leader to make an appropriate judgement about whether or not the teacher has met the Criteria.

Teachers certificated subject to confirmation

12. Experienced teachers who are certificated subject to confirmation do require mentoring but are unlikely to require the same intensive mentoring as newly qualified teachers. While the elements described in paragraph 10 above are still required they would be undertaken as appropriate for the individual experienced teacher.

Requirements to be issued with a full practising certificate

13. In order to be issued with a full practising certificate, a provisionally certificated teacher or teacher certificated subject to confirmation is required to:
    a. be a registered teacher; and
    b. be of good character and fit to be a teacher; and
    c. be proficient in English and/or te reo Māori; and
    d. have completed either:
       i. two years of employment in a teaching position of at least 0.5 FTTE within the general education system within the last five years (provisionally certificated teachers); or ii. one year of employment in a teaching position69 within the general education system within the last three years (teachers certificated subject to confirmation); and
    e. have completed an induction and mentoring programme appropriate to the category of practising certificate they hold, and that allows:
       i. for meaningful appraisal using the Practising Teacher Criteria; and
       ii. the teacher to meet, with evidence, all of the Practising Teacher Criteria.

69 While there are no minimum hours required per week, the teaching role must be of a sufficient size to enable meaningful appraisal using the Practising Teacher Criteria.

One year of supervised teaching service completed overseas may be considered, provided that the teaching was completed in a school or setting recognised by the education authority of the relevant state or country, and an appropriate system of support and mentoring was provided.

If a provisionally certificated teacher has completed supervised teaching overseas, a signed statement on letterhead from the overseas professional leader will be required, outlining the content and structure of the induction programme.

71 Note that, generally, the Education Council considers that teaching experience must have been completed while the teacher held a current practising certificate.

72 Two years means an accumulated period of teaching of not less than 72 weeks completed in blocks of six consecutive weeks or more, with one year equalling 36 weeks.

73 The Education Council considers 0.5 FTTE to mean at least half of a full time teaching week. For employers who measure jobs in contact hours, these positions are taken to mean contact hours plus other duties. 0.5 FTTE includes all aspects of teachers’ work (i.e. teaching contact hours, planning and preparation time, attendance at staff meetings and professional development).

Expectations

14. Provisionally certificated teachers need to ensure that they gain the teaching experience and support they will need to be able to gain a full practising certificate within two to three years of being issued with their first provisional practising certificate.

15. The Education Council expects provisionally certificated teachers to access and fully engage in a high quality induction and mentoring programme that is comprehensive, educative and evaluative. Provisionally certificated teachers should ascertain that the employer can provide such an induction and mentoring programme before accepting an offer of employment in a teaching position.

16. The responsibility for ensuring the induction programme is implemented and that records are kept of the provisionally certificated teacher meeting the Practising Teacher Criteria is shared between the teacher and their professional leader.

17. The Education Council expects that teachers certificated subject to confirmation will meet the requirements to gain a full practising certificate within one to three years (but can renew a subject to confirmation practising certificate if they meet the satisfactory recent teaching requirements for that category, and they are employed in a teaching position that is too part time or too casual to enable meaningful appraisal using the Practising Teacher Criteria).

18. The Practising Teacher Criteria define what the Education Council considers to be satisfactory teaching for a practising teacher to meet. Therefore in order to be issued with a full practising certificate, a teacher certificated subject to confirmation must have a sufficiently diverse range of teaching opportunities in their practice to be meaningfully assessed using and meet all of the Practising Teacher Criteria.

The Guidelines for Induction and Mentoring and Mentor Teachers describe the requirements and expectations for high quality induction and mentoring programmes and are included in Section Four: Standards and Guidelines.
APPENDIX: EDUCATION COUNCIL APPRAISAL CONCEPTUAL FRAMEWORK – HE KETE WHAKATIPU NGAIO TANGATA

This framework underpins aligned, robust appraisal systems for schooling and early childhood education settings. It illustrates the relationships between four central components, each enacted as culturally competent practices. Such systems support teachers’ appraisals for attaining and maintaining full certification, fostering their professional learning and ensuring optimal outcomes of learning and achievement for ākonga.
This section sets out each of the formal policies that underpin all registration, practising certificate and Limited Authority to Teach (LAT) processes.

These policies are:

- Satisfactorily Trained to Teach Policy
- Good Character and Fit to be a Teacher Policy
- Language Proficiency Requirements in Aotearoa New Zealand
- Likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria Policy
- Satisfactory Recent Teaching Experience Policy
- Policy on the Approval of Settings for Renewing a Full Practising Certificate Outside of the General Education System
- Limited Authority to Teach Policy

For information on how these policies work together to create the rules and guidelines that are applied to registration and each category of practising certificate, see Section Two: Teacher Registration and Practising Certificate Framework.

PURPOSE
1. The purpose of this policy is to set out how the Education Council of Aotearoa New Zealand (the Education Council) will interpret and apply the legislative requirement for all registered teachers to be ‘satisfactorily trained to teach’.

RATIONALE
2. The Education Act 1989 requires all teachers to be ‘satisfactorily trained to teach’, as determined by the Education Council in order to become registered. The Education Act 1989, s353(c). S354 of the Act gives the Education Council the ability to determine whether a person is satisfactorily trained to teach.
3. Teaching is a complex and demanding profession and the knowledge, skills and qualities that a teacher brings to their work plays a critical role in enabling the educational achievement of all learners.
4. Teacher qualifications and training (including formal study, experience, and professional development) are important indicators of teacher quality, safety and competence.
5. The Education Council has developed the Graduating Teacher Standards to define what is expected of trained and qualified teachers for the purposes of registration.
6. This policy seeks to ensure that there is a clear and consistent interpretation and application of what is required for a teacher to be deemed to be satisfactorily trained to teach for registration purposes.
7. The Education Council also wants to ensure that the knowledge that teachers have is current. For this reason, the Education Council considers that the recency of teachers’ qualifications and of teaching experience is relevant when assessing whether teachers can be considered ‘satisfactorily trained to teach’.

LEGISLATIVE CONTEXT
8. The principal sections of the Education Act 1989 applicable to this policy are sections 353 and 354.

DEFINITION
9. For registration purposes the Education Council considers a person satisfactorily trained to teach if they:
   a. have a tertiary level qualification/s that includes sufficient elements of teacher education; and
   b. can demonstrate that they meet the Graduating Teacher Standards or their equivalent.
10. The Education Council considers how recently the Graduating Teacher Standards were met to be relevant. An initial teacher education (ITE) qualification approved by the Education Council is considered sufficiently recent if it was awarded within the previous six years.
11. In exceptional circumstances only, the Education Council may consider that a person who does not meet the requirements set out in paragraph 9 above may be satisfactorily trained to teach. These exceptional circumstances and the process for making discretionary decisions are set out in paragraphs 18–20.
12. The Education Council works closely with tertiary providers of teaching qualifications in New Zealand. This helps to ensure that any graduate of a New Zealand ITE programme that has been approved by the Education Council has demonstrated that they meet the Graduating Teacher Standards and will be able to be considered by the Education Council as satisfactorily trained to teach when they apply for registration. The Education Council may also seek assurance from any provider of an approved ITE programme that course requirements have been met by graduates, including (but not limited to) entry requirements and language proficiency.
REGISTRATION REQUIREMENTS

13. When making an application to be a registered teacher the applicant is required to provide evidence of being satisfactorily trained to teach by:
   a. having evidence of graduating, or being eligible to graduate, from an Education Council-approved ITE programme in New Zealand (in the form of a certified copy of their qualification/s, including entry level qualifications for graduate diploma programmes); or
   b. having evidence of holding an overseas teaching qualification that has been recognised by NZQA as comparable to an Education Council-approved ITE programme (in the form of an International Qualifications Assessment report completed and issued by NZQA within the last five years); or
   c. having evidence of holding an overseas teaching qualification that has been recognised by NZQA as having the core components of an Education Council-approved ITE programme (in the form of an International Qualifications Assessment report completed and issued by NZQA within the last five years); or
   d. providing sufficient information to enable the Education Council to consider making a discretionary decision (discussed further at paragraph 20 below) that the applicant is satisfactorily trained to teach.

14. The Education Council also requires that a person applying for registration provides evidence that:
   a. the Education Council-approved teaching qualification has been awarded within the previous six years; or
   b. (for experienced teachers or teachers who have taught overseas) an Education Council-approved teaching qualification was awarded six years ago (or more), and they have recent teaching experience that is acceptable to the Education Council.

15. If an applicant has a teaching qualification that was awarded six years ago or more, and they do not have recent teaching experience acceptable to the Education Council, the teacher is required to successfully complete the Teacher Education Refresh (TER) programme to demonstrate that their professional knowledge and skills are up to date before they can be considered satisfactorily trained to teach.

16. The criteria and elements the Education Council will consider when determining whether a teacher has recent acceptable teaching experience are outlined in paragraphs 23-25.

TRANSITION ARRANGEMENTS FROM THE TEACHERS COUNCIL

17. Applicants who have previously been registered with the Teachers Council but did not have current registration on the date the Education Council came into operation will need to apply again to be registered. The Education Council will require evidence that a teacher previously registered with the Teachers Council meets the requirements of being satisfactorily trained to teach if the Education Council:
   a. does not have a record of that evidence; or
   b. has a good reason for checking that any evidence previously supplied is full and accurate.

76 Teachers who were previously registered with the Teachers Council but were unregistered at the time of the Education Council’s commencement will need to apply for registration and meet the requirements including being satisfactorily trained to teach. The Education Council will take into account whether a teacher ever held full registration with the Council when determining if they have completed acceptable teaching experience, and are therefore not required to complete the TER programme.

77 Teachers who were granted full registration by the Teacher Registration Board in 1990 and maintained full registration with the Teachers Council, but became unregistered before the Education Council was established, have not previously provided evidence of being satisfactorily trained to teach. Practising teachers were ‘grandparented’ into the registration system in 1990 when the Teacher Registration Board was established, and were able to maintain full registration with the Teachers Council by renewing their practising certificate on the basis of having completed satisfactory recent teaching experience.

78 Registration granted by the Teachers Council prior to the establishment of the Education Council could expire and some teachers who were unregistered at the time the Education Council came into effect will need to apply for registration. Registration granted by the Education Council does not expire, and the Education Council therefore needs to be confident that an applicant is well prepared to teach effectively, and meets all the other criteria, before granting registration.
THE EDUCATION COUNCIL'S DISCRETION TO DETERMINE WHETHER AN APPLICANT IS SATISFACTORILY TRAINED TO TEACH

18. The Education Council will ensure that its decision-making process is fair, transparent and consistent.

19. The Education Council will use the following criteria for making decisions as to whether an applicant is satisfactorily trained to teach in circumstances when they cannot provide either:
   a. evidence of having graduated from an Education Council-approved ITE programme in New Zealand; or
   b. evidence of holding an overseas teaching qualification that has been recognised by NZQA as comparable or having the core components of an Education Council-approved ITE qualification.

Criteria for decision making

20. In determining whether or not training is satisfactory the Education Council will:
   a. Take account of evidence that the person can provide of:
      i. their tertiary qualifications from accredited institutions (e.g. certified copies of all qualifications and official course transcripts); and
      ii. their total teaching experience in New Zealand and overseas; and
      iii. professional development that is related to teaching and learning; and
      iv. testimonials from previous employers (with particular weight being given to any testimonials provided by people who are currently fully certificated New Zealand teachers); and
      v. appraisal information and documentation; and
      vi. information about professional registration or accreditation status in any countries where they have taught; and
      vii. any other relevant factor.
   b. Consider the applicant's analysis of how their teaching experience and training demonstrates that they could meet all of the Graduating Teacher Standards.
   c. Take account of the expectation of the teaching profession that all registered teachers are qualified and trained teachers and that this means having a tertiary qualification awarded by an institution that has accreditation, and that includes sufficient elements of teacher education. Unless there are exceptional circumstances, the Education Council will not consider it sufficient for a person to hold any other type of tertiary level qualification or qualifications with minimal pedagogical and teacher education content.
   d. Review the total package of evidence provided above and consider whether the Education Council is assured that the person can be considered satisfactorily trained to teach.

RECENT TEACHING ACCEPTABLE TO THE EDUCATION COUNCIL

21. The Education Council recognises that some applicants who are applying to become registered and have completed their ITE qualification six years ago or more will have completed recent teaching and therefore their professional knowledge and practice will be sufficiently up to date that they would not benefit from completing the TER programme.

22. Usually these will be overseas teachers because teachers already practising in New Zealand are required to be registered and hold a practising certificate to be lawfully employed in a teaching position in the compulsory education sector.

23. The elements that the Education Council will take into account when considering whether a teacher has completed recent acceptable teaching are:
a. the amount and recency of teaching employment;
b. whether the teaching employment was in the general education system of the country where it was completed, or an accredited institution;
c. the views of the professional leader/s who employed the teacher;
d. any evidence that can be provided of recent appraisal and professional development.

Criteria and evidence
24. Usually, a teacher will be required to have completed at least two years of teaching employment within the last six years.

25. Teachers will be expected to provide a copy of their Curriculum vitae and may also be asked to provide:
   a. testimonials from professional leaders who have employed them within the last six years;
   b. evidence of appraisals carried out of their teaching within the last six years;
   c. evidence of professional development completed within the last six years.

INTRODUCTION
1. The Education Council of Aotearoa New Zealand (the Education Council) provides leadership in teaching, enhances the status of teachers and education leaders and ensures safe and high quality leadership, teaching and learning for children and young people.

2. The Education Council has a statutory responsibility under the Education Act 1989 to register, issue and renew practising certificates to suitable applicants to the teaching profession. To fulfil this obligation the Education Council must be satisfied that an applicant for registration and any type of practising certificate or a Limited Authority to Teach (LAT) is of good character and fit to be a teacher.

PURPOSE
3. The purpose of this policy is to:
   a. explain the criteria that will be used by the Education Council for determining good character and fitness to be a teacher;
   b. set out the processes used by the Education Council for determining teachers' good character and fitness to be a teacher for all parts of the registration and practising certificate application processes, and processes for granting a Limited Authority to Teach (LAT);
   c. give public and professional confidence in the registration, practising certificate and LAT processes, by maintaining high standards when registering and issuing practising certificates to teachers and granting LATs.

LEGISLATIVE CONTEXT
4. The principal sections of the Education Act 1989 applicable to this policy are sections 282, 353, 355, 357, 361, 362, 366, 367, and 368.

5. The Vulnerable Children Act 2014 is also applicable to this policy. S28 of this Act prevents core workers who have been convicted of a specified offence from being employed or engaged to work with children, unless they have been granted an exemption. The Children’s Action Plan also establishes the expectation that children’s workers will meet a set of core competencies in relation to working with vulnerable children. Practising teachers are required to either meet, or be likely to meet, the Practising Teacher Criteria and are required to commit to upholding the Code of Ethics, so are required to be practising within parameters that set high expectations for the provision of safe and high quality care and education of children and young people.

6. Before the Education Council can register an applicant or grant a Limited Authority to Teach (LAT) the Education Act 1989 requires the Education Council to be satisfied that the applicant:
   a. is of good character; and
   b. is fit to be a teacher.

79 S23 of the Vulnerable Children Act 2014 defines a core worker as a children's worker who is either the only children's worker present, or has primary responsibility for, or authority over the children present.

80 Schedule 2 of the Vulnerable Children Act 2014 lists the specified offences that prevent a person becoming registered or holding a practising certificate, unless granted an exemption.

81 S36 of the Vulnerable Children Act 2014 sets out the process for applications for exemption.
7. The Education Council also requires, as additional criteria for the issue and renewal of all categories of practising certificate, that teachers demonstrate they are of good character and fit to be a teacher.\(^\text{82}\)

8. In deciding whether or not an applicant meets those criteria, sections 355 and 368 of the Education Act 1989 require the Education Council to obtain a Police vet of the applicant. The Education Council will take the Police vet into account in making its decision, as well as any other matters that are relevant in the circumstances.

OTHER RELEVANT LEGISLATION

ETHICAL CONTEXT

10. The Education Council’s Code of Ethics for Certificated Teachers/\textipa{\text{\textgreek{tikanga} matatika}} applies to all teachers who hold a practising certificate, and to those persons who are granted a Limited Authority to Teach (LAT).

DEFINITION OF ‘GOOD CHARACTER AND FIT TO BE A TEACHER’

11. The Education Council will take the following matters into account in deciding whether an applicant is of good character and is fit to be a teacher. The applicant:
   a. has a Police vet satisfactory to the Education Council;
   b. displays respect for persons, for cultural and social values of Aotearoa New Zealand, for the law and for the views of others;
   c. upholds the public and professional reputation of teachers;
   d. promotes and nurtures the safety of learners within his or her care;
   e. is reliable and trustworthy in carrying out duties;
   f. is mentally and physically fit to carry out the teaching role safely and satisfactorily.\(^\text{83}\)

12. The Education Council may also take into account any other matters that it considers relevant in the circumstances.

PRINCIPLES

13. The Education Council will observe the following key principles in determining whether an applicant is of good character and is fit to be a teacher:
   a. natural justice: the Education Council will give an applicant an opportunity to be heard before it decides not to register, issue or renew a practising certificate or LAT to that applicant on the grounds of character or fitness to be a teacher;
   b. transparency: the Education Council will:
      i. endeavour to make clear its processes for deciding whether an applicant is of good character and is fit to be a teacher; and \(^{82}\) Education Act 1989, s361(2)(c) and s361(6)(d). The ability for the Education Council to establish additional criteria is set out in s382(1)(h) of the Education Act 1989.

\(^{83}\) In considering this criterion, the Education Council will distinguish between any mental or physical condition that affects an applicant’s ability to carry out the teaching role satisfactorily, and any disability that an applicant has that does not impact on that ability. The Education Council is aware of its obligation not to contravene the Human Rights Act 1993 by unlawfully discriminating against any person.
ii. provide reasons if it decides that an applicant does not meet those criteria;

c. consistency: the Education Council will have regard to prior decisions where relevant;

d. reliability: the Education Council will ensure that its decisions about applicants’ character and fitness to be a teacher are based on comprehensive and quality information.

EVIDENCE

14. The Education Council will ensure that decisions are based on comprehensive and quality information. The onus is on the applicant to provide this information, and the Education Council will make decisions on the basis of the information provided.

15. The evidence required by the Education Council when it determines the good character of an applicant will include a Police vet satisfactory to the Education Council.

16. The current criteria used for assessing "good character through a Police vet satisfactory to the Education Council" include reference to:

   a. severity;
   b. recency;
   c. age at offending; and
   d. pattern of offending.

17. The evidence required by the Education Council when it determines that an applicant is fit to be a teacher shall be:

   a. For an applicant for a Limited Authority to Teach:
      i. satisfactory Police vet;
      ii. applicant declaration, and any relevant supporting information about matters declared;
      iii. testimonial;
      iv. employer endorsement, when applicable;
      v. support endorsements – for itinerant positions only.

   b. For an applicant for teacher registration and any category of practising certificate:84
      i. satisfactory Police vet;
      ii. applicant declaration, and any relevant supporting information about matters declared;
      iii. testimonial;
      iv. recommendation;
      v. endorsement.

DETERMINATION

18. Points at which the Education Council will require evidence of good character and fitness to be a teacher are:

   a. Registration, practising certificates and application for Limited Authority to Teach (LAT):
      i. by Education Council staff at the point of application;

84 See Appendix Two for further details.
ii. by the Application Review Committee (a staff committee) when further consideration of an application is required;

iii. by the Registration Sub-committee (a staff management committee) as a result of notification of misconduct, conviction or other consideration;

iv. by Council members upon recommendation from the Registration Sub-Committee.

b. When applications for registration/LATs are being processed and there is one of the following:
   i. a complaint about competence or conduct; or
   ii. a conviction; or
   iii. a mandatory report.

19. When there is a complaint, conviction or mandatory report the appropriate Education Council processes for those circumstances will be followed. Once resolution of those issues is finalised then the registration, practising certificate or LAT process will continue for that applicant with regard to the outcome of the Education Council’s processes.

APPEALS

20. Any applicant who is not satisfied with a Council decision about his or her application may appeal that decision to the District Court within 28 days (or any longer period that the Court allows) of receiving notice of the decision.

POLICY REVIEW

21. This policy may be reviewed and consulted on as necessary by the Education Council.

APPENDIX ONE: PROCEDURE FOR UNDERTAKING POLICE VETTING AND IDENTITY VERIFICATION

The Education Council requires that anyone applying to be registered, issued with or renew a practising certificate, and those applying for a Limited Authority to Teach (LAT) are of good character and fit to be a teacher.

The Education Act 1989 requires the Education Council to obtain a Police vet when determining whether a person is of good character and fit to be a teacher.

New Zealand Police vetting

When applying for registration, a practising certificate or LAT the applicant gives permission through the applicant declaration section of the relevant form for the Education Council to disclose information provided in the application to NZ Police for the purpose of obtaining a Police vet. As the request for the vet is made to the Police by the Education Council, there is a process in place to ensure safe and appropriate handling of sensitive information:

a. An applicant’s information can only be sent to NZ Police by certain designated staff members from a computer in a secure area.

b. Information is shared electronically and is classified under the Government Security Classification ‘In Confidence’.

c. NZ Police are required to return the result of the vet within a specified timeframe to ensure completion of the process in a timely manner.

Identity verification for New Zealand Police vetting

The Education Council also needs to be assured of the identity of an applicant to ensure the vetting process is carried out for the correct person. Due to the size and geographic spread of the profession the Education Council is not able to verify a teacher’s identity without relying on a third party who can sight appropriate identity documents (including photographic documentation) and confirm the person presenting them is the same person.

The Education Council’s process for identity verification applies to all applications for registration, practising certificates and LATs received on or after 1 July 2015, and requires a person authorised by the Education Council to:

a. sight a category A form of identity document; and

b. sight a category B form of identity document; and

c. sign a statutory declaration to confirm:

i. the person who provided the documentation is the same person shown in the photographic identification document; and

ii. is the person named in the registration, practising certificate or LAT application form.
Category A and B forms of identity documentation are listed below.

INTRODUCTION
1. As part of determining whether to grant an application for registration, a practising certificate or for a Limited Authority to Teach (LAT), the Education Council of Aotearoa New Zealand (the Education Council) will consider the applicant’s proficiency in English or Māori. Before the Education Council can register, issue or renew a practising certificate or grant a LAT to an applicant, it must be satisfied that he or she can communicate effectively with the diverse nature of the children and young people they may teach, with parents, whānau and caregivers, and with colleagues.

2. This policy sets out the criteria the Education Council will generally use to determine whether an applicant is sufficiently proficient in English or Māori, and the evidence it will generally require applicants to provide. The Education Council may however apply different criteria or require different evidence in certain cases. Put another way, while this policy will guide the way in which the Education Council determines whether an applicant has sufficient language skills, the Education Council will assess each application on a case-by-case basis. It may depart from this policy where it reasonably considers that is necessary or appropriate.

LEGISLATIVE CONTEXT
3. The sections of the Education Act 1989 principally relevant to this policy are 353, 355, 361 and 366. These sections provide that an applicant for registration, or for a LAT must be fit to be a teacher. In addition the Education Council requires that those applying for the issue or renewal of a practising certificate are fit to be a teacher. In determining whether an applicant meets this criterion, the Education Council will consider the applicant’s language proficiency for being employed in a teaching position in Aotearoa New Zealand.

4. The Education Council may also consider language proficiency in determining whether an applicant has satisfactory recent teaching experience in accordance with section 363 of the Act (for renewal of a practising certificate in any category) and whether an applicant is likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria.

POLICY APPLICATION
5. This policy applies to all applicants for registration, issue and renewal of practising certificates in any category and to all applicants for a LAT.

APPLICANTS WITH ENGLISH OR MĀORI AS A FIRST LANGUAGE/NEW ZEALAND-EDUCATED APPLICANTS
6. The Education Council is likely to be satisfied that an applicant is sufficiently proficient in English or Māori if:
   a. English or Māori is his or her first language and it has been the medium of instruction in his or her primary and secondary schooling, and all schooling qualifications have been completed in English or Māori; or
   b. he or she has completed initial teacher education in New Zealand in a Council-approved institution to Council-approved standards.

7. Appendix One to this policy sets out the evidence an applicant must provide to show that he or she meets the criteria set out in paragraph 6(a) or (b) above.

85 This is an additional criterion for all categories of practising certificate, which is provided for under s382(1)(h) of the Education Act 1989.
8. The Education Council retains the discretion to require an applicant who meets the criteria set out in paragraph 6(a) or (b) above to sit one of the approved language proficiency tests and attain at least the minimum standards set out below. It should not however usually be necessary for such an applicant to do this.

OTHER APPLICANTS

9. An applicant who does not meet the criteria in paragraph 6(a) or (b) above will need to:
   a. sit any one of the approved language proficiency tests listed below, attain at least the minimum standards set out below, and provide the Education Council with official certification of this from the relevant language proficiency test provider; or
   b. provide the Education Council with official certification from the relevant language proficiency test provider that he or she has already sat one of the approved tests within the two years prior to the date the application was received and attained at least the minimum standards.

COUNCIL-APPROVED TESTS AND MINIMUM STANDARDS

10. Education Council-approved tests and minimum standards are:

For English
   a. International English Language Testing System (IELTS): a minimum of 7 in each component of the Academic version of the test.
   c. Certificate in Advanced English (CAE): a minimum score of 185, with no band score less than 185.
   d. Certificate of Proficiency in English (CPE): a minimum score of 185, with no band score less than 185.

For Te Reo Māori
   a. NMLPT / Whakamātauria Tō Reo: Level 3.

For more information about these tests, see Appendix Two to this policy.

APPLICATIONS FOR A LAT TO TEACH A FOREIGN LANGUAGE

11. Applications for a LAT to teach languages other than English or Māori, where the applicant will not be required to teach other subjects in English or Māori, will be considered on a case by case basis.

POLICY REVIEW

12. This policy may be reviewed, and consulted on, as required by the Education Council.

RELATED POLICY REFERENCES

APPENDIX ONE: EVIDENCE REQUIRED TO MEET PARAGRAPH 6(A) OR (B) CRITERIA

When considering whether or not an applicant meets the criteria set out in paragraph 6 (a) or (b) of the policy, the Education Council will generally require at least the following:

| Applicants who have English or Māori as their first language; that language has been the medium of instruction in their primary and secondary schooling; and all their schooling qualifications have been completed in English or Māori. | a. a statutory declaration in the applicant’s own words stating that his or her first language is English or Māori and providing details of where and when he or she completed primary and secondary schooling; and
  b. certified copies of official statements from the applicant’s primary and secondary schools confirming the medium of instruction was English or Māori and that the applicant’s schooling qualifications were completed in English or Māori; and
  c. any other information requested by the Education Council. |
| Evidence of membership or accreditation with an overseas teaching regulatory body where English is an official language may also be considered. |

Applicants who have completed their initial teacher education in New Zealand.
Note that applicants are required to have met the language proficiency requirements for entry to an approved initial teacher education (ITE) programme as set out in the Education Council’s Approval, Review and Monitoring Processes for ITE Programmes.

Evidence of graduating from, or meeting the requirements to graduate from, an Education Council-approved initial teacher education programme. This may be:
- a certified copy of the applicant’s qualification certificate; or
- a certified copy of an official transcript that states the applicant’s eligibility to graduate; or
- a statement of completion from the provider that states the applicant’s eligibility to graduate.

The Education Council’s discretion to accept statutory declarations

When determining whether or not to accept a statutory declaration as evidencing an applicant’s proficiency in Māori or English, the Education Council may take into account the following:

- a. the standard of the language used in the statutory declaration and other written materials provided in relation to the application;
- b. any concerns the Education Council has that documents may be fraudulent;
- c. any other information the Education Council has about the applicant’s language ability. This could include (but is not limited to) correspondence with Council staff such as telephone conversations, emails and letters;
- d. obtaining appropriate assurances from the ITE provider about how the applicant met the entry requirements to the programme;
- e. any other relevant matter.

The Education Council may verify any of the information provided. The applicant must not become involved in the verification process unless requested by the Education Council.

LIKELY TO MEET THE PRACTISING TEACHER CRITERIA POLICY

PURPOSE

1. The Education Act 1989 requires the Education Council of Aotearoa New Zealand (the Education Council) to establish and maintain criteria for practising certificates of different kinds.\textsuperscript{86}

2. The Practising Teacher Criteria define what constitutes satisfactory teaching for the purpose of being issued with and renewing a full practising certificate.

3. The Education Council requires teachers renewing a provisional or subject to confirmation practising certificate to be likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria. A teacher’s likeliness to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria is a factor the Education Council considers relevant when determining whether a provisionally certificated teacher or teacher certificated subject to confirmation has completed satisfactory recent teaching experience.

4. This policy only applies when a teacher is renewing a provisional or subject to confirmation practising certificate and has insufficient recent teaching experience to be meaningfully appraised using the Practising Teacher Criteria to be issued with a full practising certificate. This means:
   a. the teacher has not completed sufficient teaching experience to meet the induction and mentoring requirements to be issued with a full practising certificate; or
   b. in the judgement of the professional leader who has most recently employed the teacher, the recent teaching position/s they have held are too part-time or too casual to allow for meaningful appraisal using the Practising Teacher Criteria; or
   c. any other situation where the Education Council accepts that meaningful assessment using the Practising Teacher Criteria has not been possible.

5. Unless these conditions are met, the Education Council expects a teacher to be appraised using, and to meet, the Practising Teacher Criteria.\textsuperscript{88}

6. The purpose of this policy is to set out the requirements and evidence for teachers to demonstrate they are likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria.

RATIONALE

7. A practising certificate is a signal of teachers’ professionalism, integrity and assured recent capability. A current practising certificate is one of the main ways that employers, colleagues, learners and the wider community can be assured that a teacher is qualified, safe and competent.

8. Meeting all of the Practising Teacher Criteria, or being likely to be able to meet the Criteria, are key indicators of professional competence.

9. The Education Council expects teachers who are currently employed in a teaching position to demonstrate that they are a satisfactory teacher by making satisfactory progress towards meeting all of the Practising Teacher Criteria.

\textsuperscript{86} Education Act 1989, s382(1)(h)

\textsuperscript{87} A full definition of ‘meaningfully assessed’ can be found in the ‘Satisfactory Recent Teaching Experience Policy’.

\textsuperscript{88} This means that when a teacher has sufficient recent teaching service and opportunities within their recent teaching employment, they must be assessed using the Practising Teacher Criteria, i.e. a teacher cannot choose not to be assessed using the Practising Teacher Criteria.
10. The Education Council recognises that provisionally certificated teachers need time to undertake an induction and mentoring programme to progressively demonstrate that they are able to meet all of the Criteria.

11. Teachers certificated subject to confirmation, although experienced teachers, may be employed in teaching positions that are too part time or too casual to enable them to meet all of the Criteria.

12. For these reasons the Education Council does not require provisionally certificated teachers or teachers certificated subject to confirmation to have sufficient evidence to be able to meet all of the Criteria, but does require assurance that their recent training and experience signals they are likely to be able to, once they are employed in a teaching position that enables meaningful appraisal using the Criteria.

13. This policy seeks to ensure that there is a clear and consistent definition of what the Education Council considers is required to determine that a teacher is 'likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria' for the purpose of renewing a provisional or subject to confirmation practising certificate.

14. This policy should be viewed in the context of the Education Council’s wider work within the teaching profession which aims to support all teachers to not only endeavour to be satisfactory, but to continually strive for excellence by reflecting, learning and developing their practice as high quality capable and professional teachers.

LEGISLATIVE CONTEXT

15. The principal sections of the Education Act 1989 applicable to this policy are sections 361(6) and 382(1)(h).

DEFINITION

16. The Education Council considers a teacher is likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria if there are no ongoing issues of competency or conduct, and their recent experience and training signals that they are likely to meet the Criteria when they are employed in a teaching position that enables meaningful appraisal using them.

PROVISIONAL PRACTISING CERTIFICATE RENEWAL

17. In considering whether a provisionally certificated teacher is likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria the Education Council will take into account the views of the professional leader/s who employed the teacher within the last three to five years by requiring a testimonial.

18. The Education Council also requires that, within the last six years a teacher applying to renew their provisional practising certificate has:
   a. been awarded an approved initial teacher education qualification; or
   b. successfully completed the TER programme; or
   c. completed sufficient satisfactory recent teaching for the Education Council to approve a request for review of the requirement to complete the TER programme.

89 The Education Council will determine whether a testimonial is acceptable based on the sufficiency of the teacher’s employment at the relevant school or centre.

90 If a teacher requests a review of the requirement to undertake the TER programme and this is approved by the Education Council, this indicates the teacher has had recent successful employment and is making satisfactory progress towards meeting the Practising Teacher Criteria, therefore the Education Council considers the teacher would not benefit from undertaking the TER. The review framework is included in the appendix.
SUBJECT TO CONFIRMATION PRACTISING CERTIFICATE RENEWAL

19. Teachers renewing a practising certificate in the category subject to confirmation can demonstrate they are likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria if they can provide a testimonial from a professional leader who employed them within the last three to five years, attesting that they are likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria.

20. If a teacher certificated subject to confirmation has completed so little recent teaching within the past five years that a professional leader is unable to attest that they are likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria, the Education Council may require the teacher to prepare and submit a 'return to practice' plan before issuing the teacher with another practising certificate.

THE EDUCATION COUNCIL’S EXPECTATIONS OF PROVISIONALLY CERTIFICATED TEACHERS AND TEACHERS CERTIFICATED SUBJECT TO CONFIRMATION

21. The Education Council expects teachers who are employed in teaching positions in New Zealand and to be actively working towards demonstrating that they are a satisfactory teacher by meeting all of the Practising Teacher Criteria and becoming fully certificated.

22. The Education Council will carefully consider renewal applications for provisional and subject to confirmation practising certificates to ensure the teacher is likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria and therefore has satisfactory recent teaching experience. The Education Council also needs to be satisfied that all the other criteria for renewal of a practising certificate have been met.

23. A provisional practising certificate is usually granted for three years. The Education Council expects provisionally certificated teachers to complete the induction and mentoring requirements to be issued with a full practising certificate within that time but accepts this may not be possible and some teachers will have a valid reason for renewing their provisional practising certificate.

24. The Education Council considers that valid reasons for renewing a provisional practising certificate are:
   a. the teacher is not yet able to demonstrate that they meet all of the Practising Teacher Criteria, but their professional leader can provide their assurance that:
      i. satisfactory progress towards meeting all of the Practising Teacher Criteria is being made and
      ii. there will be continuing support for the teacher in order for them to be able to demonstrate that they do meet all of the Practising Teacher Criteria within the next three years;
   b. being on parental leave;
   c. having ill health (of the teacher or a close relative) that excludes a teacher from working;
   d. living overseas;
   e. being unable to secure a 0.5 FTTE teaching position;
   f. being employed in a setting where the teacher cannot participate in a two year, broad-based induction and mentoring programme while being mentored by a fully certificated teacher.

25. When a teacher renews their provisional practising certificate the Education Council will communicate with the teacher to ensure they understand the Education Council’s expectations in terms of progressing from a provisional practising certificate to full certification within the next three years.

26. The Education Council considers that valid reasons for renewing a subject to confirmation practising certificate would include being employed in a teaching position that, in the judgement of their professional leader, has

91 A ‘return to practice’ plan requires a teacher to identify their professional learning needs to re-enter the profession as a certificated teacher and to be an effective teacher, and the professional development and learning activities they intend to undertake to address these needs.
been either too part-time or too casual for the teacher to be meaningfully appraised using the Practising Teacher Criteria.

27. The Education Council generally considers there should be no restriction on the number of times a teacher can renew a subject to confirmation practising certificate.

INFORMATION REQUIRED ABOUT THE VALID REASON FOR RENEWING

28. The Education Council will require those applicants renewing a provisional or subject to confirmation practising certificate to provide a personal attestation (in the form of a signed statement) as to the valid reasons they have for not meeting the requirements to be issued with a full practising certificate, and requiring renewal in their existing category instead. This will be required to be endorsed by the applicant’s professional leader when applicable.

29. In all situations, by signing the applicant declaration section of the application forms, the applicant gives the Education Council permission to contact the Ministry of Education and their pay agents, and any individual or institution named in the application to verify the details of teaching service.

30. The Education Council is authorised under section 360 of the Education Act 1989 to match information about the teaching service of those currently employed in a teaching position in state and integrated schools to the Education Council’s records of certificated and/or authorised teachers.

31. In considering their application, the Council may ask applicants to provide evidence of the reason they are seeking renewal. The Education Council will only ask for this additional information when there is reason/s to do so in order to be confident that the requirements of this policy are being met.

APPENDIX: FRAMEWORK FOR REVIEW OF THE TER PROGRAMME REQUIREMENT

This framework is applied when the Education Council considers a request for review of the requirement to undertake the TER programme from a provisionally certificated teacher. All elements are considered in combination; however failure to meet one element does not necessarily mean that a review will be unsuccessful.

The Education Council exercises its discretion when considering all requests.

PURPOSE
1. The purpose of this policy is to set out how the Education Council of Aotearoa New Zealand (the Education Council) will interpret and apply the legislative requirement for all teachers renewing a practising certificate to have 'satisfactory recent teaching experience'.

RATIONALE
2. Registration is granted to a teacher only once, and does not expire. The renewal process for all types of practising certificate provides an opportunity for the Education Council to be assured that a registered teacher is appropriately experienced, safe and competent to be a practising teacher.
3. There are three categories of practising certificate: full, provisional and subject to confirmation.
4. If a teacher does not hold a practising certificate, there has been no recent assurance about their recent teaching practice, competence or safety.
5. While all practising certificates carry a requirement for the holder to have completed satisfactory recent teaching experience, the Education Council acknowledges that teachers are employed in a range of roles and settings. Some teachers choose to be employed in casual or part time positions, while others may seek to return to teaching after a break from the profession.
6. The Education Council's interpretation and application of the term 'satisfactory recent teaching experience' is therefore different for each type of practising certificate, to cater for teachers in diverse employment situations.
7. This policy has been designed to ensure that the Council has a clear and consistent statement of interpretation and application of what the Education Council require for a teacher to be considered to have satisfactory recent teaching experience for practising certificates to be renewed in all categories.
8. In doing so, this policy also seeks to emphasise the fact that holding a full practising certificate is the only signal to members of the profession and the public that a teacher has recently been appraised using, and has met, all of the Practising Teacher Criteria.
9. Teachers who hold a provisional practising certificate or subject to confirmation practising certificate are either in the progress of demonstrating that they meet the Practising Teacher Criteria by undertaking an induction and mentoring programme, or are employed in a teaching position that does not provide sufficient opportunity for them to be meaningfully appraised using all of the Practising Teacher Criteria. For this reason a teacher who is provisionally certificated or certificated subject to confirmation has completed 'satisfactory' teaching experience when they are likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria.
10. This policy should be viewed in the context of the Education Council's wider work within the teaching profession which aims to provide leadership in teaching, enhance the status of teachers and education leaders and ensure safe and high quality leadership, teaching and learning for children and young people.

94 Education Act 1989, s361(6)(a).
95 Education Act 1989, s377.
LEGISLATIVE CONTEXT

11. The principal sections of the Education Act 1989 applicable to this policy are sections 348, 361 and 363.

DEFINITION

12. Under the Education Act 1989, satisfactory recent teaching experience is defined as two years of uninterrupted employment in a teaching position satisfactorily completed within the last five years in New Zealand. This teaching employment must have been completed either within the general education system or an educational institution approved by the Education Council.

13. The Act also allows the Education Council to accept shorter periods of time.

14. The Education Council interprets the definition of satisfactory and recent teaching differently for each category of practising certificate, as set out below.

FULL PRACTISING CERTIFICATE RENEWAL

Definition of satisfactory teaching experience

15. The Practising Teacher Criteria define what constitutes satisfactory teaching for the purpose of being issued with and renewing a full practising certificate.

16. In order for teaching service to be considered to be ‘satisfactory’ for the purpose of renewing a full practising certificate, a teacher is required to have been meaningfully appraised using, and to have met, all of the Practising Teacher Criteria within the last five years. Usually, this will not have been possible if the teacher did not hold a practising certificate during the time of the teaching service being considered. While there may be exceptional circumstances, generally employment in a teaching position while the teacher was not certificated will not be considered satisfactory recent teaching experience for the purpose of renewing a full practising certificate.

17. The Education Council has the discretion to determine whether employment has been satisfactorily completed and may require evidence of meaningful appraisal using the Practising Teacher Criteria.

Meaningly appraised

18. The Education Council considers that a teacher must have had sufficient teaching service in order to be meaningfully appraised.

19. Sufficient teaching service means that the position/s held have been neither too part-time nor too casual in the judgement of the professional leader to enable meaningful appraisal to be undertaken using the Practising Teacher Criteria, and to enable the teacher to have evidence of their practice.

Meets the Practising Teacher Criteria

20. A teacher has met the Practising Teacher Criteria when:

   a. they have been appraised by their professional leader who most recently employed them in a teaching position for at least six consecutive weeks; and

   b. this professional leader can attest that the teacher has provided evidence of meeting all of the Practising Teacher Criteria.

96 Education Act 1989, s348.
97 In this situation the Education Council would be more likely to request evidence of the teacher being meaningfully appraised using, and having met, the Practising Teacher Criteria.
98 Section 363 of the Education Act 1989 enables the Education Council to take into account any relevant matters when determining whether a period of employment was satisfactorily completed. This may include the views of the professional leader or employer.
99 According to the judgement of the professional leader who most recently employed the teacher for at least six consecutive weeks.
21. Usually there are only two reasons why a professional leader may not be able to make a judgement that a teacher seeking renewal of their full practising certificate meets all of the Practising Teacher Criteria.

   a. Competency or conduct concerns. If a professional leader is not confident or satisfied about the competence or conduct of the teacher, then the professional leader should access support from the Education Council (including information provided on the Education Council website) to ensure that these issues are appropriately addressed.

   b. Lack of evidence. Where a person has sufficient teaching the onus is on both the applicant and their employer to ensure that evidence of meeting the Practising Teacher Criteria is kept and can be provided to their endorsing professional leader. If appropriate records or evidence have not been kept, a professional leader may recommend that the applicant is considered likely to be satisfactory but that the professional leader does not have sufficient evidence to make a judgement that the applicant is satisfactory.

Definition of recent teaching experience

22. Recent experience relates to employment in a teaching position/s in the New Zealand general education system or educational institution approved by the Education Council, and means either:

   a. two years of uninterrupted employment in a teaching position completed within the last five years; or

   b. one year of uninterrupted employment in a teaching position completed within the last three years.

PROVISIONAL AND SUBJECT TO CONFIRMATION PRACTISING CERTIFICATE RENEWAL

Definition of satisfactory teaching experience

23. Provisionally certificated teachers are required to undertake a two year induction and mentoring programme under the supervision of a fully certificated teacher prior to being able to apply for a full practising certificate.

24. The induction and mentoring programme is the pathway by which teachers make the transition from being a student teacher to being a confident and effective teacher who can improve the learning outcomes of diverse ākonga.

25. The Education Council expects that provisionally certificated teachers will meet the requirements to complete the induction and mentoring programme and be issued with a full practising certificate within the first three years of holding a provisional practising certificate, but accepts this may not be possible and some teachers will need to renew their provisional practising certificate.

26. Teachers who are certificated subject to confirmation are experienced teachers who have previously held a full practising certificate, but have not completed sufficient recent teaching employment to be able to demonstrate that they meet all of the Practising Teacher Criteria. This may be because their recent teaching employment has been too part time or too casual to enable their professional leader to undertake meaningful appraisal of their teaching.

27. For these reasons teachers can renew their provisional or subject to confirmation practising certificate when they are likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria.

100 Two years of uninterrupted employment means an accumulated period of teaching of not less than 72 weeks completed in blocks of six consecutive weeks or more.

101 One year of uninterrupted employment means an accumulated period of teaching of not less than 36 weeks completed in blocks of six consecutive weeks or more.

102 The Education Council requires a provisionally certificated teacher to meet the requirements to be issued with a full practising certificate within a maximum period of six years of becoming registered. If a teacher is unable to do this, they will be required to successfully complete the Teacher Education Refresh (TER) programme before being able to renew their provisional practising certificate again.
28. When deciding whether a provisionally certificated teacher or teacher certificated subject to confirmation is likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria, the Education Council will take into account the views of the professional leader/s who employed the teacher by requesting a testimonial.¹⁰³

29. The Education Council will consider that a teacher’s employment has been sufficiently recent if the teacher has completed:

   a. Within the last three years, at least:
      i. six weeks of full time continuous teaching employment in the general education system; or
      ii. 80 days of teaching employment in the general education system (including day relief); or
      iii. three months of full time teaching employment in an educational institution recognised by the Education Council.

   b. If the teacher does not meet one of the above, the Education Council will exercise discretion to consider any teaching employment completed in the general education system or an educational institution recognised by the Education Council within the previous five years.

30. If a teacher applying to renew their subject to confirmation practising certificate has not completed any teaching employment within the previous five years, the Education Council may issue the teacher with a subject to confirmation practising certificate but will require a ‘return to practice’ plan.¹⁰⁴

31. Teaching employment in an educational institution relates to employment within the wider education sector, but outside of the general education system. It may also include teaching employment completed overseas.

32. The Education Council recognises that some experienced teachers who wish to return to teaching will have relevant expertise that will mean they are likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria.¹⁰⁵ Registered teachers in this situation are unlikely to require a practising certificate to be employed in their role, but may want to hold a subject to confirmation practising certificate to indicate there has been recent assurance from the Education Council that they are a capable and professional teacher, and are likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria.

33. For the Education Council to consider teaching employment in an educational institution the teacher needs to have been employed:

   a. by an accredited or registered institution, or licensed learning service; and

   b. in a teaching position that meets the Education Council’s definition of a teaching position,¹⁰⁶ evidenced by their job description.

¹⁰⁴ A ‘return to practice’ plan requires a teacher to identify their professional learning needs to re-enter the profession as a certificated teacher and to be an effective teacher, and the professional development and learning activities they intend to undertake address these needs. The Education Council may also require this if a teacher has completed recent teaching that is so minimal that no assurance can be provided either from the teacher or a professional leader that the teacher is likely to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria.

¹⁰⁵ This may include, for example, facilitation or mentoring of teachers, provision of professional learning and development or employment within education agencies such as the Ministry of Education, Education Review Office (ERO) or private training establishments (PTE).

PROCESS AND EVIDENCE REQUIRED FOR CERTIFICATION

34. When making an application to renew a practising certificate, an applicant is required to provide evidence of completing satisfactory recent teaching service in the form of:
   a. a completed list of teaching service; and
   b. an endorsement from the appropriate professional leader\(^{107}\) that:
      i. (for teachers renewing a full practising certificate) the applicant has evidence of having met all of the Practising Teacher Criteria; and
      ii. in the judgement of the professional leader the applicant has demonstrated that they have met all of the Practising Teacher Criteria; or
      iii. (for teachers renewing a provisional or subject to confirmation practising certificate) in the judgement of the professional leader the applicant has demonstrated that they are likely to meet all of the Practising Teacher Criteria.

35. By signing the applicant declaration section of the application forms, the applicant gives the Education Council permission to contact the Ministry of Education and its pay agents, and any individual or institution named in the application to verify details, including of teaching service.

36. The Education Council is authorised under section 360 of the Education Act 1989 to match information about the teaching service of those currently employed in a teaching position in state and integrated schools to the Education Council’s records of registered, certificated and/or authorised teachers.

37. In considering an application for renewal of a full practising certificate, the Education Council may ask applicants to:
   a. provide evidence of their recent appraisal; and
   b. provide copies/summaries of the evidence used by their professional leader to assess them using the Practising Teacher Criteria.

38. The Education Council will only ask for this additional information when there is a genuine reason for doing so.

DISCRETIONARY DECISION MAKING – RENEWAL OF A FULL PRACTISING CERTIFICATE

39. The Education Council will use the following criteria for considering whether a teacher has satisfactory recent teaching experience ONLY when a professional leader is unable to attest that a teacher's experience has been satisfactory due to lack of evidence (refer to paragraph 21b), or a testimonial has been provided but the Education Council requires further information from the applicant.\(^{108}\) In circumstances where the professional leader is unable to attest that teaching has been satisfactory due to conduct or competency concerns, the professional leader must follow this up through appropriate mandatory reporting procedures.

Criteria for decision making

40. In considering whether a teacher has 'satisfactory recent teaching experience' the Education Council:

\(^{107}\) The professional leader signing the testimonial must have employed the teacher recently, and in a sufficient role for them to be assured about the statements they are making. The Education Council will determine whether a testimonial is acceptable based on sufficiency of employment at the relevant school/centre.

\(^{108}\) Section 363 of the Education Act 1989 enables the Education Council to take into account any relevant matters when determining whether a period of employment was satisfactorily completed. This may include the views of the professional leader or employer, but additional matters may also be taken into account.
a. will, if a testimonial is unable to be provided, require a statement from the professional leader explaining why they are unable to attest that the teacher’s recent teaching experience has been satisfactory;\(^\text{109}\)

b. will consider evidence from the teacher which may include:
   i. recent appraisal documentation; and
   ii. testimonials from senior teaching colleagues attesting to the evidence they have sighted that, in their opinion, demonstrates that the teacher’s recent teaching experience has been satisfactory;

c. may request a critical self-reflection from the teacher analysing why they consider that they have met the \textit{Practising Teacher Criteria} and how this has been demonstrated with evidence;

d. will review the total package of evidence provided above and consider whether the Education Council is confident that the teacher has demonstrated that their recent teaching experience is satisfactory and they have met all of the \textit{Practising Teacher Criteria}; and

e. may consider any other relevant matter.

DISCRETIONARY DECISION MAKING – RENEWAL OF A SUBJECT TO CONFIRMATION PRACTISING CERTIFICATE

41. The Education Council will use the following criteria for considering whether a teacher certificated subject to confirmation has satisfactory recent teaching experience when a teacher does not meet the minimum teaching experience requirements outlined in paragraph 29.

Criteria for decision making

42. In considering whether a teacher has ‘satisfactory recent teaching experience’ the Education Council will take into account:
   a. the amount of teaching experience completed; and
   b. the recency of the teaching experience; and
   c. testimonials from professional leaders that have employed the teacher within the last three to five years
   d. evidence from the teacher, which may include:
      i. evidence of their recent engagement in professional learning and development; and
      ii. a self-reflection completed by the teacher framed against the \textit{Practising Teacher Criteria}.
   e. may consider any other relevant matter.

INTRODUCTION

1. This policy recognises the diverse situations teachers practise in and aims to give appropriate assurance about those who have a full practising certificate by requiring educational institutions outside of the general education system to apply for approval as a setting where the Education Council will recognise that teachers have completed 'satisfactory recent teaching experience'. The policy is underpinned by the principle of ensuring safe and high quality teaching and learning for children and young people.

2. The Education Council requires that rigorous and robust appraisal processes are in place when approving settings and that these ensure the elements of appraisal for both professional growth and accountability are met.

3. This means that in these settings fully certificated teachers are supported with appropriate resources that would enable them to meet the requirements to renew a full practising certificate and are able to meet the demands of teaching in the general education system of Aotearoa New Zealand.

PURPOSE

4. The policy aims to ensure that teachers employed in teaching positions in educational institutions outside of the general education system who are seeking to renew a full practising certificate have engaged in satisfactory professional learning and development, and are able to demonstrate with evidence that they have been meaningfully appraised using, and have recently met, all of the Practising Teacher Criteria.

LEGISLATIVE CONTEXT

5. The Education Council of Aotearoa New Zealand (the Education Council) requires teachers to have satisfactory recent teaching experience when renewing a full practising certificate, in accordance with sections 348 and 361(6)(a) of the Education Act 1989.

6. Section 348 of the Act defines "satisfactory recent teaching experience" as one of the following completed within the previous five years:

   a. An uninterrupted period of employment of 2 years (or some shorter period or periods approved by the Education Council for the person) in a teaching position or teaching positions in the general education system; or

   b. A period of employment of 2 years (or some shorter period or periods approved by the Education Council for the person), in a position (or positions) that (or each of which) in the Education Council’s opinion was equivalent to a teaching position, in an educational institution in New Zealand approved by the Education Council for the purposes of this Part."

7. Section 363 of the Act defines how the Education Council will determine whether or not teaching has been "satisfactorily completed" as follows:

   1) In determining whether or not a period of employment was satisfactorily completed by a person, the Education Council may take into account any relevant matters.

   2) In determining whether or not a period of employment at a school, early childhood service, or other educational institution in New Zealand was satisfactorily completed by a person, the Education Council may take into account—

      a) the views of the professional leader of the school early childhood service, or other educational institution; or
b) if the person was the professional leader of a school, early childhood service, or other educational institution, the views of his or her employer.

3) Subsection (2) of this section does not affect the generality of subsection (1) of this section

8. The general education system is defined in section 348 of the Act as:
   a. registered schools (as defined in section 2); and
   b. early childhood services; and
   c. other institutions and services established or deemed to have been established, or provided, under this Act or the Education Act 1964

9. Institutions may provide evidence that they meet the statutory definition of the general education system if they are not included in the list footnoted to paragraph 8.

10. The authority to grant an approval or re-approval of an educational institution outside of the general education system where teachers may renew a full practising certificate lies with the Education Council.

REQUIREMENTS

11. A full practising certificate may only be renewed by completing 'satisfactory recent teaching experience' within:
   a. the general education system as described in paragraph 8 above, or
   b. an educational institution that has been approved by the Education Council for this purpose.

12. Institutions outside of the general education system will only be approved as settings in which teachers may renew a full practising certificate if they can clearly demonstrate:
   a. that the teaching roles within the institution will enable sufficient and diverse opportunities for teachers to meet the Practising Teacher Criteria; and
   b. the appraisal system requires teachers to be meaningfully appraised using, and to meet, all of the Practising Teacher Criteria; and
   c. that the teaching role/s within the institution meets the Education Council's definition of a teaching position.

13. Institutions outside of the general education system should apply in writing to the Education Council for approval as a setting in which teachers may renew a full practising certificate. The application should be supported by evidence as set out in Appendix One.

14. Evidence provided will be assessed together as a package. The onus is on applying institutions to provide evidence that approval should be granted. It is not the Education Council’s responsibility to 'discover' the suitability of an institution for the purposes of registration.

15. Approvals will be granted for up to three years. At the end of the term of approval a full application must be submitted for approval to be granted for a further term. It is the responsibility of each institution to monitor its own approval term and make a further application for approval, if required, at the expiration of that term.

16. The Education Council will maintain a database of all institutions holding current approval.

113 The Education Council has recognised employment in the general education system in New Zealand historically as being within a state, integrated or independent school, kura kaupapa Māori, early childhood services, approved initial teacher education provider, polytechnic, university or wānanga.
INFORMATION REQUIREMENTS

17. Learning institutions need to complete information requirements (as outlined in Appendix One), providing evidence of and addressing such questions as:
   a. Are certificated teachers employed in a teaching position?\textsuperscript{114}
   b. What is the nature of the education programmes being provided by teachers? Do the programmes enable individual teachers to demonstrate all of the Practising Teacher Criteria?
   c. How do those teachers keep up to date with and advance their professional learning about knowledge of curriculum and pedagogy in order to advance the learning of ākonga?
   d. Is there a valid and rigorous performance management system that includes the elements in the Education Council’s Appraisal Conceptual Framework and includes appraisal of teachers based on the Practising Teacher Criteria? How is documentation of this linked to the professional leader’s endorsement of the teacher’s application to maintain a full practising certificate?
   e. Is the institution subject to external review by a recognised body?

18. Any other information that may help the Education Council to make a decision.

19. Information and supporting evidence is to be provided in the format of the appended application form.

REVIEW

20. This policy may be reviewed at any time at the discretion of the Education Council and applicants can view current policy on the website.

APPENDIX ONE: APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS FOR EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS SEEKING APPROVAL AS A SETTING WHERE TEACHERS CAN RENEW A FULL PRACTISING CERTIFICATE

The information requirements for seeking Education Council approval as a setting for renewing a full practising certificate are set out below.

Complete all numbered items 1-10 and provide supporting documentation.

Please forward your application and cover letter to:

Manager, Registration Education Council of Aotearoa New Zealand
PO Box 5326
Wellington 6145

Attention: Application for Approved Setting

1. What is the purpose and nature of your setting?

Settings are expected to have a purpose of education and to be delivering curriculum according to the curricula for early childhood education services and schools in New Zealand.

2. Is your setting registered/accredited with NZQA as a Private Training Establishment? If so, please give details of the date of registration and the latest audit.

Settings are expected to have appropriate accreditation for their operation as an education setting.

3. Are the education programmes in your setting subject to approval or external review by any other body? If so, please give details of:
   a. The terms of reference
   b. Membership of any advisory committee
   c. The frequency of meetings, and
   d. The process by which programmes are approved and reviewed.

Settings are expected to have an educational programme, which is subject to approval or external review by an authorised body on such matters.

4. What is the:
   a. Nature of the education programmes being provided by teachers?
   b. Range of ages and approximate number of students taught by your setting?
   c. Usual attendance hours of students?
   d. Length of the programme for each student?

Education programmes being provided by teachers, are expected to cover explicitly a particular range of age and number of students, hours of attendance and length of programme for students, to enable the curriculum to be delivered effectively.

5. Are staff members who are delivering education programmes employed in a teaching position?

The Education Council further defines the requirement in the Act for a teacher to "instruct students" as meaning: having responsibility for teaching and learning by having a job description that expects them to cause learning (either as an individual or member of a teaching team) and to act autonomously and without day to day supervision.

6. In what ways do the teachers provide a sequential programme of teaching that enables them to demonstrate meeting all of the Practising Teacher Criteria and involves:
   a. Planning, implementation, assessment and reporting of individual students’ learning
   b. Review and evaluation of the programme?

The programme of teaching is expected to be sequential and involve planning, implementation, assessment and reporting of individual students’ learning, and review and evaluation of the programme to enable teachers to demonstrate that they meet all of the Practising Teacher Criteria.

7. If you have different groups of teachers in relation to teaching roles, please differentiate between these groups and provide information about each group.

115 Documentary evidence is required as outlined in question 10a.
116 Education Act 1989, s348.
117 Documentary evidence is required as outlined in question 10b.
8. In what way do you provide
   a. An ongoing process of supervision and appraisal for teachers?
   b. A supervision and appraisal system to ensure teachers are demonstrating the Practising Teacher Criteria?\textsuperscript{118}

   Full certification requires that teachers receive an ongoing process of supervision and appraisal and that the system used ensures that teachers are demonstrating all of the Practising Teacher Criteria.

9. In what ways do your teachers
   a. Keep up to date with knowledge of curriculum and pedagogy in order to advance the learning of students/ākonga?
   b. Have opportunities for participation in professional learning and development?

   Full certification requires that teachers are supported to keep up to date with knowledge of the curriculum, are provided with appropriate professional development opportunities and are supported with resources in terms of skills, knowledge and practice.

10. Please provide supporting documentation to:
    a. Show the nature of teaching staff roles and responsibilities (for example copies of job descriptions); and
    b. Demonstrate how teachers are able to meet all of the Practising Teacher Criteria; and
    c. Demonstrate the appraisal and support systems whereby teachers are assessed against the Practising Teacher Criteria (for example, copies of policies relating to appraisal of staff).

APPENDIX TWO: EDUCATION COUNCIL APPRAISAL CONCEPTUAL FRAMEWORK
- HE KETE WHAKATIPU NGAIO TANGATA

This framework underpins aligned, robust appraisal systems for schooling and early childhood education settings. It illustrates the relationships between four central components, each enacted as culturally competent practices. Such systems support teachers’ appraisals for attaining and maintaining full certification, fostering their professional learning and ensuring optimal outcomes of learning and achievement for ākonga.

\textsuperscript{118} Documentary evidence is required as outlined in question 10c.

INTRODUCTION
1. The Education Council of Aotearoa New Zealand (the Education Council) is entrusted with the responsibility of providing leadership in teaching, enhancing the status of teachers and education leaders and ensuring safe and high quality leadership, teaching and learning for children and young people.119
2. The Education Council’s view is that the best way to ensure high quality teaching and learning is to appoint fully qualified, registered and certificated teachers. Under section 366 of the Education Act 1989, the Education Council can also authorise an unregistered person to teach on a temporary basis by issuing a Limited Authority to Teach (LAT).

PURPOSE
3. The purposes of this policy are to:
   a. explain the rationale, the requirements and the processes by which the Education Council approves applications for a LAT;
   b. provide public and professional confidence that the LAT approval process contributes to a quality learning environment and enhances the reputation of the teaching profession;
   c. enable the employment in teaching positions of those people who do not meet the requirements to be registered and hold a practising certificate, but have either:
      i. the skills and experience appropriate to advance the learning of students; or
      ii. skills in an area where there is a shortage of certificated teachers.

RATIONALE
4. The Education Council can authorise an unregistered person to teach on a temporary basis by issuing a Limited Authority to Teach (LAT) for a specialist position, provided that the person is of a suitable disposition and has the skills and experience appropriate to advance students’ learning. A LAT may also be issued if the person has a particular set of skills that are in short supply.
5. A person who holds a LAT may not be appointed to a permanent teaching position.120 Permanent teaching positions can only be filled by qualified and registered teachers who hold a current practising certificate. LATs are only to be used on a temporary basis by schools and kindergartens.
6. A LAT cannot be issued to a person who has been convicted of a specified offence, unless an exemption has been granted under the Vulnerable Children Act 2014.121

LEGISLATIVE CONTEXT
7. The Education Council is authorised to issue a LAT under section 366(2) of the Education Act 1989. Other principal sections of the Act that are applicable to this policy are 349, 350, 351, 365, 366, 367, 368, 369, 370.

119 Education Act 1989, s377.
120 The only employer that may appoint a person to a permanent position who does not hold a practising certificate is a sponsor of a partnership school kura hourua. Refer to the Education Act 1989, s349(2).
ETHICAL CONTEXT

8. The Code of Ethics for Certificated Teachers – Ngā Tikanga Matatika mā ngā Pouako Kua Whiwhi Tohu Whākoako applies to both certificated teachers and authorised persons (those who hold a LAT). As part of accepting any LAT position, the LAT holder needs to understand the ethical principles and commitments within the Code, including the professional expectation to uphold the reputation of the teaching profession.

DEFINITION

9. 'Limited Authority to Teach' means authorisation to be employed in a teaching position for a limited period of time as defined in the policy, and to provide specialist skills or skills that are in short supply.

REQUIREMENTS

10. When deciding whether to grant a LAT, the Education Council must consider whether the applicant:
   a. has either:
      i. the specialist skills and experience appropriate to advance the learning of a student or group of students; or
      ii. has skills that are in short supply; and
   b. is of good character; and
   c. is fit to hold a LAT; and
   d. is proficient in English and/or te reo Māori.

11. In determining whether the applicant meets these criteria, the Education Council will take into account the following:
   a. the purpose of the LAT; and
   b. the views of the professional leader/s of institution/s that employed or engaged the applicant in the last five years; and
   c. the views of any professional leader who wishes to employ the person; and
   d. the applicant's relevant skills and experience; and
   e. any other relevant matters.

12. Generally, the Education Council requires that people applying for a LAT will hold qualifications to at least Level 6 on the New Zealand Qualifications Framework in their specialist subject area; however the Education Council also recognises that some unqualified people may have significant experience and expertise that can advance students' learning. In these situations the Education Council will place greater weight on the testimonials provided, and information the applicant can provide evidencing their ability to advance learning.

122 Education Act 1989, s387(6).
123 Applications made for a LAT to teach languages other than English or te reo Māori, where the applicant is not required to teach other subjects in English or Māori, will be considered on a case by case basis.

129 Language requirements, including minimum acceptable test results, are listed in the policy ‘Language Proficiency Requirements for Teaching in Aotearoa New Zealand’.

130 Additional evidence and information may be required; see the policy ‘Language Proficiency Requirements for Teaching in Aotearoa New Zealand’ for further information and explanation.
DURATION OF LATS

13. LATs may be issued for up to three years. When determining the period of time for a LAT to be granted, the Education Council will be guided by the purpose of the LAT.

ELIGIBILITY

14. A teaching position is partly defined in the Education Act 1989 as a position that requires its holder to instruct students. The Education Council further interprets 'instructs students' as having responsibility for teaching and learning. A person is considered to have responsibility for teaching and learning if their job description expects them to:
   a. cause learning (either as an individual or a member of a teaching team); and
   b. to act autonomously and without day to day supervision; and
   c. be employed and paid as a teacher.131

15. A person is NOT eligible to apply for a LAT if any of the following apply:
   a. s/he is to fulfil a role not defined as a teaching position; or
   b. s/he is a registered teacher or has approved teaching qualifications; or
   c. s/he holds a practising certificate or is eligible to hold one; or
   d. a practising certificate is not compulsory for that position.

16. An employer cannot appoint a LAT holder if that person has:
   a. Had their LAT cancelled; and
   b. has not since been granted a LAT again; or
   c. been registered as a teacher; or
   d. had their LAT suspended.132

17. A person holding a LAT is subject to the same mandatory reporting rules as apply to registered teachers.133

18. A person who has previously held a LAT may make a subsequent application.134 A person may also apply for the issue of a new LAT before the expiry of a current LAT.135 The Education Council will expect evidence of successful teaching, in particular the applicant’s ability to advance the learning of students and/or that there is an ongoing skills shortage of certificated teachers for any subsequent application for a LAT. This will primarily be in the form of testimonials and/or appraisal documentation from professional leaders who have employed the person.

APPLICATIONS FOR A LAT

19. As the purpose of a LAT is to temporarily address a need for schools and kindergartens to employ people with specialist skills, or skills that are in short supply, a LAT is required to be based on a fixed term employment offer for a specific:
   a. person; and
   b. setting; and
   c. subject or teaching position, and
   d. time-frame.

132 Education Act 1989, s349(1)(c) and (d).
133 Refer to the Education Council’s ‘Good Character and Fit to be a Teacher Policy’ and the Education Act 1989, s392, s393, s394, s395 and s397.
134 If employment is expected to continue then a new LAT must be applied for before the expiry of the current LAT.
135 Education Act 1989, s366(3).
20. The responsibilities of the applicant are to ensure s/he:
   a. has been offered a temporary teaching position for a fixed period of time; and
   b. meets the criteria for good character and fit to be a teacher; and
   c. meets the Education Council’s language proficiency requirements; and
   d. has the minimum standard of education and qualifications relevant to the role; and
   e. has the skills and experience necessary to enhance the quality of learning for ākonga; and
   f. is committed to upholding the Code Of Ethics for Certificated Teachers – Ngā Tikanga Matatika mā ngā Pouako Kua Whiwhi Tohu Whakaako.

21. The professional leader or employer has the responsibility to ensure that s/he has:
   a. been unable to secure a qualified certificated teacher for the teaching position, including on subsequent applications for a LAT for the same position; and
   b. offered the applicant a specific fixed term teaching position, compatible with her or his skills and experience; and
   c. explained to the applicant that she or he cannot be appointed to a permanent position as a LAT holder (refer to section 349 of the Education Act 1989); and
   d. documented the term of employment and the reasons for the fixed term in writing (this is a requirement of section 66 of the Employment Relations Act 2000); and
   e. informed the applicant of the Code of Ethics – Ngā Tikanga Matatika; and
   f. considered the requirements of this policy as guidance when supplying testimonials and/or endorsing the application; and
   g. has in place a performance management system that will provide the LAT holder with a clear job description, regular appraisals, access to appropriate professional development and supervision from a designated fully certificated teacher.

EVIDENCE REQUIRED TO SUPPORT A LAT APPLICATION

22. The Education Council requires evidence from the applicant and the professional leader/employer to support the application as specified in table 1.

APPEALS

23. Any applicant who is not satisfied with a Council decision about his or her LAT application may appeal that decision to the District Court within 28 days (or any longer period that the Court allows) of receiving notice of the decision.

POLICY REVIEW

24. The policy may be reviewed and consulted on as required by the Education Council.

RELATED POLICY REFERENCES

   - Good Character and Fit to be a Teacher Policy
   - Language Proficiency Requirements for Teaching in Aotearoa New Zealand
   - Code Of Ethics for Certificated Teachers – Ngā Tikanga Matatika mā ngā Pouako Kua Whiwhi Tohu Whakaako

136 Section 387(6) and 387(7) of the Education Act 1989 requires that the Code of Ethics is binding on all certificated teachers and authorised persons as the interim Code of Conduct.
This section sets out the standards and guidelines that are used throughout all Council policies. These are:

- Code of Ethics for Certificated Teachers – Ngā Tikanga Matatika mō ngā Pouako Kua Whiwhi Tohu Whakaako
- Graduating Teacher Standards: Aotearoa New Zealand
- Practising Teacher Criteria
- Guidelines for Induction and Mentoring and Mentor Teachers
Teachers certificated to practice in New Zealand are committed to the attainment of the highest standards of professional service in the promotion of learning by those they teach, mindful of the learner’s ability, cultural background, gender, age or stage of development.

This complex professional task is undertaken in collaboration with colleagues, learners, parents/guardians and family/whānau, as well as with members of the wider community.

The professional interactions of teachers are governed by four fundamental principles:

- Autonomy to treat people with rights that are to be honoured and defended,
- Justice to share power and prevent the abuse of power,
- Responsible care to do good and minimise harm to others,
- Truth to be honest with others and self.

Application of the Code of Ethics shall take account of the requirements of the law as well as the obligation of teachers to honour the Treaty of Waitangi by paying particular attention to the rights and aspirations of Māori as tangata whenu.

1. Commitment to learners

   The primary professional obligation of certificated teachers is to those they teach. Teachers nurture the capacities of all learners to think and act with developing independence, and strive to encourage an informed appreciation of the fundamental values of a democratic society.

   Teachers will strive to:

   a. develop and maintain professional relationships with learners based upon the best interests of those learners,
   b. base their professional practice on continuous professional learning, the best knowledge available about curriculum content and pedagogy, together with their knowledge about those they teach,
   c. present subject matter from an informed and balanced viewpoint,
   d. encourage learners to think critically about significant social issues,
   e. cater for the varied learning needs of diverse learners,
   f. promote the physical, emotional, social, intellectual and spiritual wellbeing of learners,
   g. protect the confidentiality of information about learners obtained in the course of professional service, consistent with legal requirements.

2. Commitment to parents/guardians and family/whānau

   Teachers recognise that they work in collaboration with the parents/guardians and family/whānau of learners, encouraging their active involvement in the education of their children. They acknowledge the rights of caregivers

137 The Code of Ethics also applies to those who have been granted a Limited Authority to Teach (LAT). Section 387(6) and 387(7) of the Education Act 1989 requires that the Code of Ethics is binding on all certificated teachers and authorised persons as the interim Code of Conduct.
to consultation on the welfare and progress of their children and respect lawful parental authority, although professional decisions must always be weighted towards what is judged to be the best interests of learners.

In relation to parents/guardians, and the family/whanau of learners, teachers will strive to:

a. involve them in decision-making about the care and education of their children,
b. establish open, honest and respectful relationships,
c. respect their privacy,
d. respect their rights to information about their children, unless that is judged to be not in the best interests of the children.

3. Commitment to society

Teachers are vested by the public with trust and responsibility, together with an expectation that they will help prepare students for life in society in the broadest sense.

In fulfillment of their obligations to society, teachers will strive to:

a. actively support policies and programmes which promote equality of opportunity for all,
b. work collegially to develop schools and centres which model democratic ideals,
c. teach and model those positive values which are widely accepted in society and encourage learners to apply them and critically appreciate their significance.

4. Commitment to the profession

In the belief that the quality of the services of the teaching profession influences the nation and its citizens, teachers shall exert every effort to maintain and raise professional standards, to promote a climate that encourages the exercise of professional judgement, and to achieve conditions which attract persons worthy of trust to careers in education.

In fulfillment of their obligations to the teaching profession, teachers will strive to:

a. advance the interests of the teaching profession through responsible ethical practice,
b. regard themselves as learners and engage in continuing professional development,
c. be truthful when making statements about their qualifications and competencies,
d. contribute to the development and promotion of sound educational policy,
e. contribute to the development of an open and reflective professional culture,
f. treat colleagues and associates with respect, working with them co-operatively and collegially to promote students’ learning,
g. assist newcomers to the profession,
h. respect confidential information on colleagues unless disclosure is required by the law or serves a compelling professional purpose,
i. speak out if the behaviour of a colleague is seriously in breach of this Code.

INTRODUCTION

The Practising Teacher Criteria describe the criteria for quality teaching that are to be met by all fully certificated teachers in Aotearoa New Zealand.

The Practising Teacher Criteria recognise that teaching is a highly complex activity, drawing on repertoires of knowledge, practices, professional attributes and values to facilitate academic, social and cultural learning for diverse education settings. The criteria and indicators should be viewed as interdependent and overlapping.

OVERARCHING STATEMENTS

1. Teachers play a critical role in enabling the educational achievement of all ākonga/learners.\(^{138}\)
2. The Treaty of Waitangi extends equal status and rights to Māori and Pākehā. This places a particular responsibility on all teachers in Aotearoa New Zealand to promote equitable learning outcomes.
3. In an increasingly multi-cultural Aotearoa New Zealand, teachers need to be aware of and respect the languages, heritages and cultures of all ākonga.
4. In Aotearoa New Zealand, the Code of Ethics/Ngā Tikanga Matatika commits certificated teachers to the highest standards of professional service in promoting the learning of those they teach.

\(^{138}\) In this document, the term ākonga has been chosen to be inclusive of all learners in the full range of settings, from early childhood to secondary and beyond, where the Practising Teacher Criteria apply.
CRITERIA AND KEY INDICATORS

PART A: GUIDELINES FOR ESTABLISHING AND IMPLEMENTING A PROGRAMME OF INDUCTION

1. Vision statement for induction programmes in Aotearoa New Zealand

High quality induction programmes will be provided for all provisionally certificated teachers (PCTs) who aspire to hold a full practising certificate as a teacher in Aotearoa New Zealand.

The programmes will be educative in focus and will support recently qualified teaching graduates to become:

- effective teachers for diverse ākonga in Aotearoa New Zealand
- professionally engaged teachers committed to on-going inquiry into their own teaching and working with colleagues in a collaborative process.

Professional development and on-going system-wide support to mentor teachers will underpin the intensive professional support needed by PCTs to maximize their professional learning and progress towards achievement of the above two goals. In this way, the profession will progressively improve its ability to contribute to equitable learning outcomes for all ākonga.

The Education Council’s vision statement for induction programmes to support PCTs sets out the overall purpose for any induction programme and the desired outcomes that the programme should aim for.

2. Principles for high quality induction programmes

High quality induction programmes

- are based in a community of support including the active support by the institution’s professional leader
- are personalised and based on the aspirations and needs of the individual PCT
- are responsive to the characteristics of ākonga and the wider community
- develop a PCT’s increasing responsibility for their own professional learning
- are educative in focus
- work towards the vision statement, with a particular focus on improving equitable outcomes for all ākonga
- are regularly reviewed to ensure continued effectiveness.

3. Essential components of high quality induction programmes

There is commitment to the vision statement

The employer, leadership and school, kura or ECE professional learning community need to develop a common understanding of how the vision statement will be interpreted and applied within their context and be committed to it.

There is institutional commitment and leadership for the programme

- Leaders and the school, kura or ECE learning community need to be committed to a culture of collaborative professional inquiry.
- There needs to be structural support from the employer and senior colleagues, including ensuring dedicated time is provided for mentoring and other professional development.
• The learning community in some settings, may embrace families and others in the wider community in addition to professional colleagues.

• Leaders should provide work conditions for the PCT that recognise their novice status.

Quality mentoring is a central (but not the sole) component

• Mentors need to be carefully selected, provided with access to high quality professional development and support for their role, and assured of dedicated time to carry out the role (see Part B).

• The PCT will also be supported to access learning from the wider learning community including observations of colleagues and participation in structured professional development programmes within and external to the institution.

The programme is based on the Practising Teacher Criteria to guide the learning and formative feedback to the teacher

• There needs to be a shared understanding of the characteristics of effective teaching as set out in the Practising Teacher Criteria.

The programme is focused on the daily practice of PCTs with their ākonga

• The programme will provide intensive, specific support based on evidence from the teaching and learning of the ākonga – so that the PCT is able to systematically reflect on this evidence and learn from it.

• The programme will focus on the needs and aspirations of individual PCTs, establishing reciprocal relationships that encourage the PCT to take increasing responsibility for identifying next steps for their professional learning.

The programme will provide the support and processes needed so the PCT can move towards being issued with a full practising certificate

• This means meeting the Education Council's requirements for formal documentation of the induction programme and documentation of evidence of the teacher's progress towards demonstrating all the Practising Teacher Criteria to move to a full practising certificate.

PART B: GUIDELINES FOR MENTORING AND MENTOR TEACHER DEVELOPMENT

1. Vision Statement for mentoring of PCTs in Aotearoa New Zealand

An effective mentor is a reflective practitioner focused on inquiry into their own and others' professional practice and learning – based on a clear understanding of outstanding teaching.

An effective mentor has a significant educative leadership role, dedicated to growing the professional capability of the colleagues they support.

An effective mentor has a sound knowledge and skill base for their role and can establish respectful and effective mentoring relationships.

An effective mentor does not work in isolation. Mentors can only be effective if they are providing mentoring as part of a comprehensive induction programme and are well supported by their employer, professional leader, and professional learning community.

2. The role of a mentor teacher

The role of a mentor of a PCT includes

• providing support to the PCT in their new role as a teacher with full responsibility for their ākonga

• demonstrating effective teaching

• facilitating learning conversations with the PCT that challenge and support them to use evidence to develop teaching strengths
• assisting the PCT to plan effective learning programmes
• observing the PCT and providing feedback against specific criteria and facilitating the PCT’s ability to reflect on that feedback
• assisting the PCT to gather and analyse ākonga learning data in order to inform next steps/ different approaches in their teaching
• guiding the PCT towards professional leadership practices that support learning in the unique socio-cultural contexts of Aotearoa
• supporting the PCT to become part of the wider learning community
• providing formal assessment of the PCT’s progress in relation to the Practising Teacher Criteria
• suggesting suitable professional development for the PCT advocating for the PCT if needed, particularly in relation to accessing high quality induction and mentoring listening to and helping the PCT to solve problems.

3. Key areas of knowledge, skills and dispositions needed for high quality mentoring

Mentors know about teachers, teaching and teacher learning

This includes areas of knowledge such as:

• contextual knowledge of an individual PCT including his/her cultural background
• pedagogy of teacher education and of mentoring
• knowledge of the teaching profession, the education system and professional standards (including the Practising Teacher Criteria)
• leadership and management of change.

Mentors know about ākonga and learning

This includes areas of knowledge such as:

• contextual knowledge of the ākonga the PCT is teaching, including cultural background of individuals and of the communities the ākonga are from
• pedagogical content knowledge relating to curriculum area(s) within which the PCT is teaching • research into learning e.g. Best Evidence Synthesis reports from the Ministry of Education • collection and interpretation of evidence of learning.

Mentors are able to use mentoring skills and dispositions

These include the abilities to:

• facilitate constructive but challenging professional conversations with PCTs and maintain their enthusiasm
• demonstrate for the PCT effective teaching for diverse ākonga
• use effective observation skills and strategies
• analyse and reflect on evidence of learning
• negotiate and advocate on behalf of the teacher
• demonstrate professional leadership and understanding of the potentiality of effective teaching to influence equitable outcomes for ākonga
• provide and/or seek cultural advice to support development of te reo me ona tikanga.
4. Provision of mentor teacher professional development

Ongoing support systems and professional development opportunities for mentor teachers should be established. As set out in these Guidelines, the mentor teacher role involves specific skills that cannot be assumed but need to be explicitly taught and supported. They are skills that are also needed in other professional leadership roles.

This means that increasing capability in these areas will have an impact on the quality of the wider professional leadership in a school, kura or ECE setting.

The Education Council is working with the wider profession to ensure there will, over time, be on-going professional development available to support the mentor teacher role. It is recommended that mentor teachers form professional communities of practice to support each other within and/or between schools, kura and ECE settings.

Programmes for the development of mentor teachers may include (but not be confined to) the following content:

- pedagogy of mentoring
- facilitation of challenging, evidence-informed, professional learning conversations
- knowledge of the Practising Teacher Criteria (and how to use the Practising Teacher Criteria to guide the professional learning of a PCT)
- approaches to gathering evidence of PCT’s learning and of providing and documenting formative feedback
- collection and analysis of learning data for PCTs to engage with in their professional learning
- knowledge of specific strategies such as for supporting differentiated learning needs, English for Second Language learning, English for Additional Language learning, and support for literacy and numeracy learning
- leadership development
- active listening
- how to personalise learning.
